AN ORDINANCE to restrict the owners or drivers of horses attached to vehicles from leaving the same unsecured.

The Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville do ordain as follows:

SEC. 1. It shall not be lawful for any owner or driver, or any person in charge of any vehicle whatsoever to leave his horse or horses attached thereto, in any of the streets of this city, without first securing such horse or horses by means of a sufficient halter, rope or chain, or without some suitable person to take the charge or guidance of them so as to prevent their running.

SEC. 2. If any such person shall violate the provisions of the preceding section, he and his employer or employers, jointly and severally, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding twenty dollars.

SEC. 3. It is hereby made the duty of each and every constable to inforce this ordinance.

SEC. 4. All horses so found running at large may be taken by said constable and held as contraband of war.

THE MISSOURI DEMOCRAT.

PROSPECTUS FOR 1861.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS OFFERED FOR Getting up Clubs.

Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly!

THE Democrat will continue to be a faithful advocate and supporter of the principles of the republican party. Its energies will be especially devoted to the west—to the advocacy of western interests and the assertion of western rights. The administration of Abraham Lincoln shall receive its cordial and unfaltering support. The great measures of a Pacific railroad on the central route; free lands for the landless; the improvement of river navigation; retrenchment and reform in all the departments of the federal government, will be urged with that zeal and devotion which have won for the Democrat its present position. On all questions it will boldly espouse the right, and only seek its advancement through the public good.

ITS NEWS, LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS DEPARTMENTS, shall be all that readers could desire. The Political, Agricultural and Manufacturing Interests of the country shall receive due attention.

THE COMMERCIAL CHARACTER of the Democrat is well established. This important interest is under the management of one thoroughly familiar with commercial affairs, and we pledge our honor that its figures shall always be the true index of trade here, while it furnishes daily more commercial news than any other paper in Missouri.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION IS DIRECTED TO OUR GREAT DOLLAR WEEKLY!

The largest paper in the country for the price of one dollar.

THE TRI WEEKLY DEMOCRAT,

at $4.00 per annum, is the most complete paper of its kind in the west. It is especially valuable to River and Railroad Merchants. It contains the complete Commercial, River and Telegraph news of each Daily issue, besides all the interesting news matter and editorial of the Daily.

TERMS STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Daily, one year,	$8,00
Tri-Weekly, one year,	4,00
Weekly, one year,	1,00

To CLUBS.—Tri-Weekly: Five copies for $18; ten copies for $35; twenty copies and one to getter up of club for $70.

Weekly: Ten copies and one to getter up of club, $10; thirty copies and one Tri-Weekly, $30; fifty copies and one Daily, $50.

It is not required that all of a club shall be sent to one post office; the number may be sent to different offices, and the subscriptions may commence at any time.

Now is time to subscribe.

Clippings from Jonathan.

A favorite Southern movement—Fire and fall back.

Shakspeare's advice to Young America —"'List, list, oh! list!"

History of Secession in six easy lessons —Defalcation, Depredation, Repudiation, Assassination, Trepidation, Extermination.

Infant Prodigy—"Pa, when they plant cannon, what do they expect them to produce?"

Facetious Parent—"Grape shoots, my dear."

Why is the crack of a rifle like news of a pacific character? Because it is the report of a piece.

Unpopular with the Secessionists—The Monroe doctrine as propounded by Butler.

A distinction with a difference—The North is full of bullion, the South of full of bullying.

Why is a confidential whisper like a letter of marque? Because it is intended for a private-ear.

Southern receipt for squaring accounts with the North—Draw on your creditors at sight—with a rifle.

The latest style of hoop—The war whoop?

How we train our volunteers—First we get them mustered and then send them to the wars to be peppered.

Exchange of colors—While Gen. Butler is getting the blacks, the slaveholders are getting the blues.

The southern insignia "C. S. A." Can't stand artillery.

COERCION.—A case of coercion, in the fullest sense of the term, occured a few days since in the back parlor of a bank which lately closed its doors. A mechanic, who had deposited some five hundred dollars of well-earned money in the bank, went to draw it out. He was informed that he could be paid in the same money which he deposited, which was as much as to say that he could have broken-down Illinois money, worth from fifty cents to nothing, for the bankable funds which he had put into the bank. He walked into the private office and confronted the manager, who gave him the same satisfaction which he obtained of the clerks—currency or nothing. Without a word he commenced pulling off his coat. He was a hard-fisted, stalwart man, and the banker looked at him in dismay. "What are you going to do?" he asked. "I am going to take that five hundred dollars out of you," was the answer. "Do you dare sir!" cried the curaged president. "I'll call in the police." "Call them in if you choose. I'll have you well thrashed before they get here. If you have a whole bone in your skin in two minutes you'll be a lucky man."

It is needless to say that the position was a poser. A movement would have been the signal for a trip-hammer blow, and the only alternative was the five hundred dollars. The amount was forthcoming without another word, and the coercionist departed with a pocket full of hard gold.—Chicago Journal.

[Translated from the Courier do Tarn-et Garonne, June 22d.

QUEEN VICTORIA.—From the ambiguous language of the London journals, it is impossible to judge of the exact value of the reports in circulation relative to Queen Victoria.

Is it, in fact, only a physical difficulty which has superinduced, in Her Majesty's case, a degree of melancholy that nothing, even the delightful intercourse with her family, can overcome? Has the death of the Duchess of Kent revived in the granddaughter of George the Third a train of thought which has more than once engaged her attention since she came to the throne of Great Britain?

To speak more clearly, is it true, as some alarmed Presbyterians already murmur, that the Queen is not very far from being converted to the Catholic faith?

Our neighbors on the other side of the channel urge these questions with so much persistence that we may ourselves refer to the subject without being accused of any act of impropriety.

The fact itself, independent of its mere dogmatic value, is vastly important politically; since the British constitution imposes upon the Sovereign the protestant faith, and the conversion of Queen Victoria would be equivalent to an abdication of the crown.

Blondin has cast his line in Liverpool, and it is part of his plan of operations there that he shall wheel a lion, "Tom Sayers," along the rope in a barrow to be fitted for the purpose. A Paris letter in the Independent says:

"The famous M. Blondin has proposed to the French authorities to cross the Seine upon a rope stretched between the Palace of the Tuilleries and barracks of the Quai d'Orsay. This will be a gratuitous sight to the population of Paris and will take place on the 15th of August. A considerable sum, however, of the amount set apart for the fete will be given to the audacious acrobat."

THE LARGEST FORTRESS IN THE WORLD. —Eighteen miles from Warsaw stands the largest fortress in the world—a fortress with casemated and boomproof barracks for 40,000 men, and with a circumference of 11 miles. Whether this fact is generally known or not, it is certain that very few Englishmen—very few persons of any country but Russia—have been allowed the opportunity of inspecting this wondrous stronghold. Nor, I believe, is our government at present in possession of any plan or sketch of the immense works; and as evidence of the jealousy with which it is hidden from the eyes of strangers, I may mention that special permission from the Czar is requisite to enable any foreigner to enter it. The fortress is called Modlin, or the New Georgian; in Russian, Novo-Giorgiewick.

The Appleton Crescent says that a number of school boys, in the town of Ellington, Outagamie county, had procured a flag and raised it with proper ceremonies over a school house there; and the next day three individuals riddled it with bullets in the absence of the scholars. The Crescent continues:

An outrage of this nature, especially in these traitorous times, should meet with the punishment commensurate with the act. It makes us blush to have to record this rascality of our own county. But we are proud to say such scoundrels are scarce among us.

TESTIMONIAL.

To Whom it May Concern:

I AM now over 60 years of age. Three years since I became blind from Cataract in both eyes. Soon after I became blind an attempt to restore my sight by an operation was made in this city, which was unsuccessful. Hearing of the reputation of Dr. Folsom, as a skillful oculist, I was induced to consult him, though with very little hopes of relief. The doctor proposed an operation, to which I consented, which resulted in almost Perfect Restoration of Sight to one eye. He afterwards performed an operation on the other eye with success. I am now enjoying the inestimable blessing of good vision, and a much better general state of health than before. THOS. VAUGHN. Janesville, Wis. je28d3m

THE MISSOURI DEMOCRAT,

PROSPECTUS FOR 1861.

CREAT INDUCEMENTS OFFERED FOR Getting up Clubs.

Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly!

THE Democrat will continue to be a faithful advocate and supporter of the principles of the republican party. Its energies will be especially devoted to the west—to the advocacy of western interests and the assertion of western rights. The administration of Abraham Lincoln shall receive its cordial and unfaltering support. The great measures of a Pacific railroad on the central route; free lands for the landless; the improvement of river navigation; retrenchment and reform in all the departments of the federal government, will be urged with that zeal and devotion which have won for the Democrat its present position. On all questions it will boldly espouse the right, and only seek its advancement through the public good.

ITS NEWS, LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS DEPARTMENTS, shall be all that readers could desire. The Political, Agricultural and Manufacturing interests of the country shall receive due attention.

THE COMMERCIAL CHARACTER of the Democrat is well established. This important interest is under the management of one thoroughly familiar with commercial affairs, and we pledge our honor that its figures shall always be the true index of trade here, while it furnishes daily more commercial news than any other paper in Missouri.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION IS DIRECTED TO OUR GREAT DOLLAR WEEKLY!

The largest paper in the country for the price of one dollar.

THE TRI-WEEKLY DEMOCRAT,
at $4,00 per annum, is the most complete paper of its kind in the west. It is especially valuable to River and Railroad Merchants. It contains the complete Commercial, River and Telegraph news of each Daily issue, besides all the interesting news matter and editorial of the Daily.

TERMS STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Daily, one year,	$8,00
Tri-Weekly, one year,	4,00
Weekly, one year,	1,00

To CLUBS.—Tri-Weekly: Five copies for $18; ten copies for $35; twenty copies and one to getter up of club for $70.
Weekly: Ten copies and one to getter up of club, $10; thirty copies and one Tri-Weekly, $30; fifty copies and one Daily, $50.
It is not required that all of a club shall be sent to one post office; the number may be sent to different offices, and the subscriptions may commence at any time.
Now is time to subscribe.
Papers will be continued ONE WEEK ONLY after expiration of subscription.

Clippings from Jonathan.

A favorite Southern movement—Fire and fall back.

Shakspeare's advice to Young America —"'List, list, oh! list!"

History of Secession in six easy lessons —Defalcation, Depredation, Repudiation, Assassination, Trepidation, Extermination.

Infant Prodigy—"Pa, when they plant cannon, what do they expect them to produce?"

Facetious Parent—"Grape shoots, my dear."

Why is the crack of a rifle like news of a pacific character? Because it is the report of a piece.

Unpopular with the Secessionists—The Monroe doctrine as propounded by Butler.

A distinction with a difference—The North is full of bullion, the South of full of bullying.

Why is a confidential whisper like a letter of marque? Because it is intended for a private-ear.

Southern receipt for squaring accounts with the North—Draw on your creditors at sight—with a rifle.

The latest style of hoop—The war whoop?

How we train our volunteers—First we get them mustered and then send them to the wars to be peppered.

Exchange of colors—While Gen. Butler is getting the blacks, the slaveholders are getting the blues.

The southern insignia "C. S. A." Can't stand artillery.

COERCION.—A case of coercion, in the fullest sense of the term, occured a few days since in the back parlor of a bank which lately closed its doors. A mechanic, who had deposited some five hundred dollars of well-earned money in the bank, went to draw it out. He was informed that he could be paid in the same money which he deposited, which was as much as to say that he could have broken-down Illinois money, worth from fifty cents to nothing, for the bankable funds which he had put into the bank. He walked into the private office and confronted the manager, who gave him the same satisfaction which he obtained of the clerks—currency or nothing. Without a word he commenced pulling off his coat. He was a hard-fisted, stalwart man, and the banker looked at him in dismay. "What are you going to do?" he asked. "I am going to take that five hundred dollars out of you," was the answer. "Do you dare sir!" cried the enraged president. "I'll call in the police." "Call them in if you choose. I'll have you well thrashed before they get here. If you have a whole bone in your skin in two minutes you'll be a lucky man."

It is needless to say that the position was a poser. A movement would have been the signal for a trip-hammer blow, and the only alternative was the five hundred dollars. The amount was forthcoming without another word, and the coercionist departed with a pocket full of hard gold.—Chicago Journal.

[Translated from the Courier de Tarn-et-Garonne, June 22d.

QUEEN VICTORIA.—From the ambiguous language of the London journals, it is impossible to judge of the exact value of the reports in circulation relative to Queen Victoria.

Is it, in fact, only a physical difficulty which has superinduced, in Her Majesty's case, a degree of melancholy that nothing, even the delightful intercourse with her family, can overcome? Has the death of the Duchess of Kent revived in the granddaughter of George the Third a train of thought which has more than once engaged her attention since she came to the throne of Great Britain?

To speak more clearly, is it true, as some alarmed Presbyterians already murmur, that the Queen is not very far from being converted to the Catholic faith?

Our neighbors on the other side of the channel urge these questions with so much persistence that we may ourselves refer to the subject without being accused of any act of impropriety.

The fact itself, independent of its mere dogmatic value, is vastly important politically; since the British constitution imposes upon the Sovereign the protestant faith, and the conversion of Queen Victoria would be equivalent to an abdication of the crown.

Blondin has cast his line in Liverpool, and it is part of his plan of operations there that he shall wheel a lion, "Tom Sayers," along the rope in a barrow to be fitted for the purpose. A Paris letter in the Independent says:

"The famous M. Blondin has proposed to the French authorities to cross the Seine upon a rope stretched between the Palace of the Tuilleries and barracks of the Quai d'Orsay. This will be a gratuitous sight to the population of Paris and will take place on the 15th of August. A considerable sum, however, of the amount set apart for the fete will be given to the audacious acrobat."

THE LARGEST FORTRESS IN THE WORLD.—Eighteen miles from Warsaw stands the largest fortress in the world—a fortress with casemated and boomproof barracks for 40,000 men, and with a circumference of 11 miles. Whether this fact is generally known or not, it is certain that very few Englishmen—very few persons of any country but Russia—have been allowed the opportunity of inspecting this wondrous stronghold. Nor, I believe, is our government at present in possession of any plan or sketch of the immense works; and as evidence of the jealousy with which it is hidden from the eyes of strangers, I may mention that special permission from the Czar is requisite to enable any foreigner to enter it. The fortress is called Modlin, or the New Georgian; in Russian, Novo-Giorgiewick.

The Appleton Crescent says that a number of school boys, in the town of Ellington, Outagamie county, had procured a flag and raised it with proper ceremonies over a school house there; and the next day three individuals riddled it with bullets in the absence of the scholars. The Crescent continues:

An outrage of this nature, especially in these traitorous times, should meet with the punishment commensurate with the act. It makes us blush to have to record this rascality of our own county. But we are proud to say such scoundrels are scarce among us.

TESTIMONIAL.

To Whom it May Concern:

I AM now over 60 years of age. Three years since I became blind from Cataract in both eyes. Soon after I became blind an attempt to restore my sight by an operation was made in this city, which was unsuccessful. Hearing of the reputation of Dr. Folsom, as a skillful oculist, I was induced to consult him, though with very little hopes of relief. The doctor proposed an operation, to which I consented, which resulted in almost Perfect Restoration of Sight to one eye. He afterwards performed an operation on the other eye with success. I am now enjoying the inestimable blessing of good vision, and a much better general state of health than before. THOS. VAUGHN.

Great Battle at Bull's Run.

[Special Despatches to the Daily Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE, July 22.

Big fight at Bull's Run. Our loss estimated variously from 300 to 3000. Rebels much larger.

The rebels contested the ground inch by inch, but the Federal troops won the battle.

More particulars will be forwarded as soon as received. W.

SECOND DISPATCH.

MILWAUKEE, July 22.

Three Batteries taken at Bull's Run.—Brilliant victory.

Fire Zouaves and 69th regiment covered themselves with glory. Enemy completely routed and retreating towards Manassas.

Particulars soon in regular report.

Terrible Disaster to our Army.

We have no heart to comment upon the news to day. Our army has suffered a defeat, and Washington is in danger. The cause of this reverse is not clear, as the troops had fought bravely up to 7 o'clock last night, and had continued success up to that time. A sudden panic then seized them, and the victory which was almost within their grasp, was turned to a defeat and a disastrous rout. It is unaccountable, and will bring sorrow and shame upon the whole north. Out of it, however, will grow a fiercer determination on the part of the friends of the Union to strike once more for the honor of the country.

The news to-day may be very much modified by the details to-morrow. The disaster may be magnified by the excited state of the public mind at Washington, and although the reverse is indeed a sad one, it may not be as deplorable as has been represented.

Correspondence of the Daily Gazette.

WASHINGTON, July 16th, 1861.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—To-day has been a general day of marching. Over twenty thousand troops have crossed the river into Virginia, besides nearly all of the marines stationed at this post. Just enough are left here to guard the garrison.

Gen. Patterson has now over fifty thousand troops under his command.

Twelve thousand troops crossed the river yesterday; they are not quite as thick about the streets here as usual, but they all seemed very anxious to go to the field, and we have the most implicit confidence that they will flog the rebels severely. Our volunteers have been encamped here so long that they have become very well disciplined in their drill. I have seen twenty-three thousand men marching in solid column at review.

There are a great many secession sympathisers in and about Washington, altho' they have to keep mum.

From my window I can see the tents on and about Arlington Heights; they seem to be as thick as they can conveniently, and make a splendid scene. I suppose that to-morrow morning will make a great change in their appearance, as our troops will do nearly all of their marching in the night time. The weather is pretty cool and has been for several days, which is very favorable to our troops in the field. I think if Jeff. Davis had known the number of soldier-men in the north he would tried and let out the job that he has undertaken to do himself.

Washington is very full of strangers; I don't know which are the thickest the soldiers or the office seekers. Before congress convened, the hotels had nothing to do and were about closing, but now one can hardly find any place to stay over night. These hotels are crowded, not by soldiers but by patriotic people, who are interested in the welfare of their country; at least they are extremely anxious to see that all the civil as well as the military places are properly supplied. Some of the disappointed ones seem to take it very philosophically. I have not heard any of them threaten to secede from the Union yet.

I hear from our 2d Wisconsin regiment very often. They are in fine spirits and compare favorably with other regiments here in discipline, and I think are superior in many other respects. They are very highly spoken of by people here.

WILLIAM H. PARKER.

On the night after my arrival, in passing from one quarter to another, I was stopped by a sentinel, whom I recognized as private P——, though he did not recognize me. I was asked for the countersign, and replied, "A friend with a bottle." The reply was, "Advance bottle and draw stopper," which I did, and was suffered to pass on my way rejoicing.

Willie, a bright little eight year old, in Troy, N. Y., never neglects daily prayer. The other day, in the presence of the family, he prayed for the country as follows:—"Oh Lord, there was never so good a country as ours until the civil war broke out; now it is very bad. The rebels are very wicked; turn their hearts to thee, on Lord. They have done many bad things; they took Sumter, but, oh God, they can't take Pickens!"

BY TELEGRAPH.

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.

Last Night's Report.

NEW YORK, July 20.

The brig Costa Rica has arrived from Aspinwal. She spoke the brig Cuba off Cape Antonio, which reported she had been a prize to the privateer Sumter, but had got away, and had disarmed the rebel crew and put them in irons. Two of them were put on board the Costa Rica and brought up to this port. The privateersmen say they were obliged to ship or starve, and that a number of the Sumter's men are northerners, and will escape the first opportunity that is offered them. The officers are desperate and will blow up the vessel, rather than be captured. Two men and a midshipman of the prize crew remained aboard the Cuba.

NEW YORK, July 20.

A Washington special despatch says it is rumored that Bull's Run is taken, but it is doubtless false. The force of the rebels at Bull's Run, is estimated at 20,000. Fourteen of our wounded died, and fifty more are lying in a stone church at Centerville.

Secretary Cameron has gone down to the seat of war, but is expected to return to-night.

WASHINGTON, July 20.

We have intelligence from Bull's Run up to 7 o'clock last evening, and Fairfax to six o'clock this morning. The fighting has not been renewed except by pickets guard, who are very near.

The two armies are only a mile apart, this being our ground of battle, yesterday and last night, and the enemy within their entrenchments on the other side of Bull's Run.

Gen. Tyler made a general reconnoisance yesterday, but made no discoveries worth noticing.

Night before last five federal troops of a N. Y. regiment, near Fairfax Court House, captured eleven secessionists.

Last night eleven more prisoners were taken by some of the 11th Massachusetts Regiment, also a mail bag containing letters.

The largest house in Centerville has been burned down. The neighbors say it was set on fire by the owner himself.

WASHINGTON, July 20.

Special to the Post.—Gen. Patterson is to be superceded by Gen. Banks, under orders from headquarters. Gen. Banks is transferred from the the war department of Annapolis to that of North Eastern Virginia, and is to be succeeded in the command at Baltimore, by Gen. John A. Dix.

A steamer arrived from Fortress Monroe bringing intelligence that there are no rebels at Acquia Creek or Mathias Point.—They have all gone to Manassas to defend that place if possible.

SENATE.—Mr. Wade offered a resolution that the naval committee be empowered to inquire into the surrender of the navy yards at Pensacola and Norfolk, with power to send for persons and papers. Referred to the committee on naval affairs.

Mr. Johnson of Tennessee introduced a bill to provide for the transportation of arms and munitions of war to loyal citizens in the states now in rebellion, and to provide for organizing them into regiments, &c. He said that the loyal citizens in those states felt that the government was bound to protect them against invasion. Referred to the committee on military affairs.

Mr. Trumbull introduced a bill to provide for holding of circuit district courts during the temporary insurrection. Referred to the committee on judiciary.

The bill providing for the construction of one or more iron clad war vessels, was laid over.

The resolution approving of acts of the president, was taken up.

Mr. Latham spoke and alluded to his friends Breckinridge, Bayard, and others, who charged the President with violating the constitution, but not a word in condemnation of those who openly trampled the constitution under foot.

He said whatever necessity required the President to enforce the law and government was right and proper, even though he might have committed an infraction of authority delegated to him, but he would not sanction the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus in Maryland, because he thought that state showed he allegiance by sending members to congress, and that there was no necessity for such a suspension there, except it was evident that the judiciary of the state was disloyal. No man doubts the loyalty of the chief justice. He thought an increase of the army not warranted by the exigencies of the case, and therefore could not sanction it, but in regard to blockade of ports, a suspension of the writ of habeas corpus in Florida, and all other acts enumerated in the resolutions he gave his most cordial support, and would say here as the representative of a sovereign state of loyal people, if the Pres't had not exercised these powers he would have voted to have him impeached as unfit and unworthy of his place.

Mr. Latham closed with an eloquent declaration, that whatever happens his own state will stand firm by the Union.

Mr. Rice said he wished to endorse all that had been said by his friend from California.

On motion of Mr. Johnson of Tennessee the subject was postponed till Monday.

Executive session adjourned.

Special Dispatch to the Chicago Times.

WASHINGTON, July 21—11 P. M.

The rebels have been driven to Manassas Junction, their ordnance, camp equipage, and army stores falling into possession of our forces.

The federal force gave them hot pursuit, marking their line of retreat with bodies of the slain.

The pursuit was most admirably conducted, and will be looked upon hereafter as a great military movement, reflecting the utmost credit upon those conducting, as well as those engaged in it.

It is impossible to give the number lost and wounded on either side. Both armies have suffered immensely, the loss to the rebels being undoubtedly vastly greater than that of the Union troops.

The division under Colonel Heintzelman (the third), which has been operating on the left of the line, was brought up to the vicinity of Centreville this morning, with a view of having it in readiness to aid in the battle of Bull's Run, if necessary. This has necessarily changed the general plan of the attack, and the flank movement, to effect which this line was designed, will not be attempted.

At this writing cannonading is distinctly heard from the direction of Manassas, and dispatches from Fairfax state that our artillery is shelling the left of the rebel entrenchments at that place.

The report that Gen. Johnston has effected a junction with Beauregard at Manassas is considered here as a canard.

A general engagement, embodying the entire force of both armies, is looked for at Manassas to-morrow.

ST. LOUIS, July 21.

Eighty-five persons, expelled from Texas county by the secessionists, have arrived in this city.

Col. Mulligan's Irish regiment, from Chicago, left the arsenal to-day, and departed from the city by the Pacific railroad. They were all in good health and spirits.

WASHINGTON, July 21.

The firing at Bull's Run could be distinctly heard at the Chain Bridge from a very early hour this morning.

The possession of Bull's Run cuts off the enemy from their only source of water, and if it can be held gives us the victory at Manassas.

The enemy is believed to have no notion of our strength.

The latest dispatches affirm that General McDowell's is victorious at all points, and is pressing, it is believed, on the Junction. Both armies have suffered greatly.

Gen. Lyon has telegraphed for reinforcements. The rebel forces in Missouri are increasing.

Breckinridge was among the most anxious inquirers for news from Bull's Run to-day. Had it been unfavorable, what would have been his course?

Gen. McClellan telegraphs that with three good Colonels of regiments more he could make a clean sweep of the rebels from Western Virginia.

Private letters from Minister Cassius M. Clay say that the feeling in Russia is strongly in sympathy with the Union.

An army order just issued honorably discharges General Patterson on the 27th inst. when his term of service expired. It orders Gen. Banks to assume his command, and Gen. Dix to relieve Gen. Banks at Baltimore immediately. The latter department is henceforth to be known as the Department of Maryland, and the former as the Department of the Shenandoah. Brigadier Generals Cox and Schlosser are honorably discharged on the 30th inst., Bates, August 27th, and Morris July 27th, when their respective terms of service expire.

Another order warns mustering officers against the borrowing of soldiers from one regiment to swell the ranks of another, and prohibits the mustering in of any volunteers who cannot speak English. It empowers Governors of States to fill any vacancies of commissioned officers of their several regiments, and strikes from the rolls Brevet Second Lieutenants Parker, Derrick and Reynolds, of the West Point class just graduated, for having tendered their resignations in the face of the enemy.

Three New York regiments have marched towards Bull's Run. Four others have gone to take the place of four Pennsylvania regiments whose term of service has expired.

Dispatches from Commodore Stringham inform the Navy Department that he has picked up nine slaves at the mouth of the Rappahannock River, who had escaped in a row-boat. They say that the rebels are forcing all the negroes in Middlesex and Essex into regiments, and that the only Union man in their vicinity has been murdered.

Commodore Prendergast discovered a rebel battery near Hatters Inlet, and exchanged a few shots with it.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, July 21.

Special to Herald.—Official despatches say we have taken three batteries in the form of a crescent, numbering 19 guns.

It is known that Manassas Junction is supplied with water by a canal from Bull's Run. This will now be cut off, leaving the rebels without water for their cavalry. That a most brilliant victory has been achieved by our gallant troops, there is no doubt.

High praise is bestowed on the Fire Zouaves and the 69th.

It is reported the former met the Louisiana Zouaves, routed them and captured their colors.

That the men of the 69th stripped to the skin, except their pants, and pitched into the fight regardless of failure and personal safety.

LATER.

Gen. McDowell telegraphs that the enemy is completely routed from Bull's Run, retreating toward Manassas Junction, leaving their batteries in the possession of the Union forces.

The fighting commenced at 3 o'clock this morning and continued most desperately until 2 o'clock this afternoon. The rebels were driven back inch by inch, leaving their dead upon the field. Loss of life on both sides was frightful.

Our troops behaved most gallantly, and their guns were very effective. The whole force on both sides is said to have been engaged, Gen. Johnston having joined the rebels, as previously stated—making Gen. Beauregard's force about 70,000. It is supposed the rebels will suffer greatly at Manassas for want of water.

Herald's correspondence says—When I left the field of battle, I saw rebels flying in vast numbers. Greatest enthusiasm thro' out our ranks.

Jeff Davis is understood to be at Manassas Junction.

Col. Cowdens 1st Massachusetts regiment was fired on several times by rebel pickets as they stepped in road on their arms.

WASHINGTON, July 21—Midnight.

Times' correspondence.—The battle has been one of the severest ever fought on this continent. Up to 2 o'clock our troops had driven the enemy a distance of nearly two miles. As the enemy fell back from one position thus only to another equally as strong and at every point fresh reinforcements were poured in almost without limit as to number. There can be no doubt that their force was at least double ours.

The Fire Zouaves were terribly cut up while drawn up to make an attack. They were assailed by a concealed battery with a strong support on their flank, and were forced to break. It is said both Col. Farnham and Lieut. Col. Cruger are killed, but it may not prove true. The latter at all events was severely wounded. Col. Hunter wounded in the throat. Col. Slocum of the 2d Rhode Island and Capt. Lewis of the 1st, reported killed. Gov. Sprague had a horse shot under him. Major Ballou of the R. I. regiment was severely wounded in the hand and thigh by a cannon ball.

Signed, H. J. RAYMOND.

Times' Washington despatch of Sunday before fight says our troops Saturday night numbered 45,000 and Patterson's column is reported moving down the Winchester road with 15,000 men and is expected to join to-day.

Eleven thousand troops left Alexandria this morning so that by to-night we shall have a superior force there, although this morning we stood 45,000 against 60,000.

WASHINGTON, July 21—5:30 P. M.

Official despotches now before the President, Scott and Mansfield corroborates previous accounts. Say every battery of the enemy was taken, including their guns &c. Fight only ceased when the enemy retired to their Manassas lines.

World's Despatch.—Enemy attempted with an immense force to turn our right flank, which came near being successful, when our large seige gun, a 32-pounder, opened fire causing tremendous havoc on the enemy and routing them.

Members of the house and senators, who came in as civilians vary in their estimates of the killed from 300 to 3000, Facts cannot yet be ascertained.

NEW YORK, July 21.

Arrived schooner S. J. Warring, captured by privateer Jeff. Davis on the night of the 16th, when 50 miles south of Charlestown. Steward, Wm. Talman, colored, killed 3 of prize crew with a hatchet, and the other 2 were released on promising to assist in working the vessel.

BALTIMORE, July 21.

Gen. Dix arrived here to-day, and will to-morrow supercede Gen. Banks who will supercede Gen. Patterson.

The Bridge across the Potomac at Harper's Ferry will be up to-morrow, making connection with the Winchester road to Charleston.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

Repulse of the Federal Troops.

WASHINGTON, July 22, via. Philadelphia.

Our troops, after taking three batteries, and making a great victory, were eventually repulsed, and commenced a retreat on Washington. The retreat was in good order, with rear well covered by a good column. Our loss 2,500 to 3,000. The fortifications around Washington are strongly reinforced by federal troops.

WASHINGTON, July 22.

After the latest information received from Centerville at 7:30 last night, a series of events took place in the intensest degree disastrous. Many confused statements are prevalent. Enough is known to warrant the statement that we have suffered in a degree which has cast a gloom over the remainder of our army, and excited the deepest melancholy throughout Washington.

The carnage was tremendously heavy on both sides, and on ours is represented as frightful. We were advancing and taking their masked batteries gradually but surely, and driving the enemy towards Manassas Junction, when the enemy seemed to have been reinforced by Gen. Johnston, who, it is understood, took command and immediately commenced driving us back, when a panic among our troops suddenly occurred and a regular stampede took place.

It is thought that Gen. McDowell undertook to make a stand at or about Centerville, but the panic was so fearful that the whole army became demoralized, and it was impossible to check them either at Centerville or Fairfax Court House. Gen. McDowell intended to make a stand at Fairfax Court House, but our forces being in full retreat, could not accomplish the object. Beyond Fairfax Court House the retreat was kept up until they reached their regular encampments, a portion of whom returned to them, but a still larger portion coming inside the encampments. A large number of troops in their retreat fell from exhaustion on the way, and were scattered along the route on the way from Fairfax Court House.

According to statement of two of the Fire Zouaves they have only about 200 men left from the slaughter, while the 69th and other regiments frightfully suffered in killed and wounded. The number cannot now be know.

Sherman's, Carlisle's and the West Point batteries were taken by the enemy, and the eight seige (32-pounders) rifled cannon.

The road from Bull's Run was strewed with knapsacks and arms of our troops, deliberately throwing away their guns and apurtenances, the latter to facilitate travel.

McDowell was in the rear of the retreat endeavoring to rally his men but only with partial effect.

Latter part of the army said to make retreat in order. His orders on the field did not at all times reach those for whom they were intended. It is supposed the force against our troops consisted, according to a previous statement, of about 50,000 men including a large number of cavalry.

It is supposed that all the provision train belonging to the U. S. is saved.

Large droves of cattle were saved by being driven back.

It is supposed here to-day that General Mansfield will take command of the fortifications on the other side of the river which are able, it is said by military engineers to hold them against any force the enemy can bring against them.

Large rifled cannon and mortars are being rapidly sent over and mounted.

An officer just from Virginia, 10:30, reports that the road from Centerville to the Potomac is strewn with stragglers. Troops are resuming the occupation of fortifications and entrenchments on the line of the Potomac.

Col. Heintzleman was wounded in the wrist.

In addition to those reported yesterday, it is said that Col. Wilcox, the gallant commander of the 2d brigade, 2d division, was killed.

Capt. McCook, a brother of Col. McCook of Ohio, is also reported killed. The city this forenoon is in most intense excitement. Wagons are constantly arriving, bringing the dead and wounded. The feeling is awfully distressing. Both telegraphic and steamboat communication with Alexandria is suspended to-day to the public.

Greatest alarm prevails in the city. The following is the account of the beginning of the panic which resulted so disastrously to our troops: All our military operations went swimingly and Col. Alexander was about erecting a pontoon bridge across Bull's Run, when a terrific consternation broke out among the teamsters who had incautiously advanced immediately after a body of the army, and lined the Warrington road. Their consternation was shared in by numerous civilians who were on the ground.

The whole army was in retreat for a time, and a perfect panic prevailed, which communicated itself to the vicinity of Centerville and every available conveyance was seized upon. Several similar alarms on previous occasions were caused by a change of the position of our batteries, and it was most probable that the alarm was owing to the same fact.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 20.

By special messenger, just arrived, we learn the following: At 20 minutes past 2, on the 18th inst., Major Van Horn's command of U. S. reserve Home Guards of this place, numbering 170 men, was attacked by 500 rebels under Capt. Duncan, three miles north of Harrisonville. The fight lasted 4 hours, during which time a continual firing was kept up on both sides.

At 20 minutes past 6 the rebels withdrew, leaving the United States troops victorious. The loss of the rebels was 14 killed, including two officers, and several were wounded; while the loss of the federal forces was only one killed.

At 12 o'clock the same command of U. S. troops continued their march, crossing Grand River twice, but were compelled to leave three of their baggage wagons on the bank of the river, in consequence of high water.

Major Van Horn left this place on the morning of the 17th, for the purpose of reinforcing Major Dean, now holding West Point, Mo., with a small force, having routed a hundred of the rebels at that place.

Major Van Horn's command was attacked while at dinner. They planted their flag-staff at 2 o'clock, never giving way an inch, nor removing the flag until after the rebels withdrew. The enemy attempted to flank them on the left, with a company of cavalry, but were completely routed by a detailed force of 25 men under Capt. Baugher.

The Markets.

NEW YORK, July 22.

Flour market without important change. Wheat market more active, but without important change.

THE WHEAT CROP IN ENGLAND.—The London Economist, received by the Canada, speaking of the crops, remarks:

Of the wheat crop we cannot give a very good account. The plant is generally thin, and let the yield from the straw be as large as possible, the crop can scarcely be a full one. The growth of the wheat plant has, however, been very favorable; the color is remarkably good, while the late rains will give it a decided impulse. The breadth sown is comparatively small, and a good deal sown was sown on land in a foul state.

Assistant Adjutant-General.

A Hannibal and St. Joseph railroad correspondent writes to the St. Louis Democrat, on the 16th, that the rebels have destroyed $100,000 worth of property on the road. The rebels wont fight openly, but seem to want to destroy all the property they can, and shoot down unprotected Union men. Cavalry are much needed to hunt them out and chase them to their holes.

More of the Badgers in Buffalo--The Fourth Wisconsin Regiment.

Notwithstanding the announcement of its intention to proceed to Elmira, via the Erie Railroad from Dunkirk, the Fourth Wisconsin Regiment arrived in Buffalo about six o'clock yesterday morning, and remained here till 10 A. M., when it took passage upon a train on the Buffalo, New York & Erie Railroad. The change in the programme of the journey was not made until the arrival of the Regiment at Dunkirk, when it was ascertained that the Erie Railroad Company was unprovided at that point with sufficient acceptable cars for its accommodation.

About three o'clock A. M., a dispatch came from Barr, announcing that the Regiment had found the accommodations on the Erie road insufficient, and were coming to Buffalo. Then ensued a scene of early activity and bustle hardly to be described. The Tigers ran to drum together their comrades and the Cornet Band; the Chief of Police was roused and made haste to collect his forces; hotels, restaurants, bakeries and eating houses were levied upon for provisions, workmen were summoned to replace some of the tables at the depot which had been removed; and, by dint of efforts almost herculean, the arrival of the Regiment at six o'clock found everything prepared to receive them honorably and entertain them hospitably.

On its debarkation from the cars the Regiment was first marched up into the city, under the escort of the Tigers, preceded by the Union Cornet Band, parading the same route through which the Badger Regiment was led last Sunday. Returning to the depot, the volunteers were marshalled around the tables, and regaled with a substantial and excellent breakfast, including hot coffee, which had been, as we have stated, prepared and collected from a dozen different kitchens, the soldiers, police, and every one, becoming waiters and attendants. The officers and their ladies were meanwhile breakfasted at the American Hotel.

The extraordinary energy with which sudden preparation was made for the reception and entertainment of this unexpected army, deserves for all who were engaged in the effort more praise than can be expressed. The chief credit is undoubtedly due to the gentlemen of the railroad, Messrs. Brown, Barr, Collamer, Gates, and others, with the Omnibus Company and a few outside parties beside, who assume the expense, we understand, of the refreshments provided. Hardly less commendation must be bestowed upon the Tigers, but for whom the visitors would have had no military courtesies extended to them.

The departure of the regiment on the Buffalo, New York and Erie Railroad, took place about 10 o'clock. By this time a large crowd had assembled, and adieus were exchanged in the form of tremendous cheers from both sides.

The Fourth Wisconsin Regiment of Volunteers is composed of much the same robust and noble class of men which we described the other day as constituting the Third Regiment of the same brave State. Its numerical strength is greater, aggregating 1100 men, and its equipments are in some respects superior. It is thoroughly provided with tents, horses, and every necessary appurtenance. In its parade through the streets yesterday morning, the staff officers were mounted, and most of them splendidly. One of them is said to have paid $1000 for the animal which he takes into service.—Buffalo Express, 18th.

GOOD PLUCK.—A young man from Lisbon, when about enlisting in the Waukesha Union Guard, was asked, "if he could sleep on the point of a bayonet," when he promptly replied, by saying, "he could try it, as he had often slept on a pint of whisky, and the kind they used in Lisbon would kill further than any shooting iron he ever saw."

It is needless to add that he was immediately mustered in, without any further inquiries.

HOW SOL. WISE WAS CAPTURED.—A Martinsburg correspondent of the New York Tribune states, that during the battle of the Falling Waters, a soldier (Sol. Wise, of Mazo Manie,) of Capt. Fairchild's company, First Wisconsin Regiment, was deployed as skirmisher on one of the wings; when the order was given to call the skirmishers in, he evidently did not hear it, and was in consequence left alone in the woods. He undertook to rejoin his comrades, but missed the way, and soon came upon a rebel regiment. Of them he inquired—"Can you tell me where the 1st Wisconsin is?" "No, but you can board with us for a short time," and thus the young Badger found himself a prisoner.

Terrible Disaster to our Army.

We have no heart to comment upon the news to day. Our army has suffered a defeat, and Washington is in danger. The cause of this reverse is not clear, as the troops had fought bravely up to 7 o'clock last night, and had continued success up to that time. A sudden panic then seized them, and the victory which was almost within their grasp, was turned to a defeat and a disastrous rout. It is unaccountable, and will bring sorrow and shame upon the whole north. Out of it, however, will grow a fiercer determination on the part of the friends of the Union to strike once more for the honor of the country.

The news to-day may be very much modified by the details to-morrow. The disaster may be magnified by the excited state of the public mind at Washington, and although the reverse is indeed a sad one, it may not be as deplorable as has been represented.

Correspondence of the Daily Gazette.

WASHINGTON, July 16th, 1861.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—To-day has been a general day of marching. Over twenty thousand troops have crossed the river into Virginia, besides nearly all of the marines stationed at this post. Just enough are left here to guard the garrison.

Gen. Patterson has now over fifty thousand troops under his command.

Twelve thousand troops crossed the river yesterday; they are not quite as thick about the streets here as usual, but they all seemed very anxious to go to the field, and we have the most implicit confidence that they will flog the rebels severely. Our volunteers have been encamped here so long that they have become very well disciplined in their drill. I have seen twenty-three thousand men marching in solid column at review.

There are a great many secession sympathisers in and about Washington, altho' they have to keep mum.

From my window I can see the tents on and about Arlington Heights; they seem to be as thick as they can conveniently, and make a splendid scene. I suppose that to-morrow morning will make a great change in their appearance, as our troops will do nearly all of their marching in the night time. The weather is pretty cool and has been for several days, which is very favorable to our troops in the field. I think if Jeff. Davis had known the number of soldier-men in the north he would tried and let out the job that he has undertaken to do himself.

Washington is very full of strangers; I don't know which are the thickest the soldiers or the office seekers. Before congress convened, the hotels had nothing to do and were about closing, but now one can hardly find any place to stay over night. These hotels are crowded, not by soldiers but by patriotic people, who are interested in the welfare of their country; at least they are extremely anxious to see that all the civil as well as the military places are properly supplied. Some of the disappointed ones seem to take it very philosophically. I have not heard any of them threaten to secede from the Union yet.

I hear from our 2d Wisconsin regiment very often. They are in fine spirits and compare favorably with other regiments here in discipline, and I think are superior in many other respects. They are very highly spoken of by people here.

WILLIAM H. PARKER.

On the night after my arrival, in passing from one quarter to another, I was stopped by a sentinel, whom I recognized as private P——, though he did not recognize me. I was asked for the countersign, and replied, "A friend with a bottle." The reply was, "Advance bottle and draw stopper," which I did, and was suffered to pass on my way rejoicing.

Willie, a bright little eight year old, in Troy, N. Y., never neglects daily prayer. The other day, in the presence of the family, he prayed for the country as follows:—"Oh Lord, there was never so good a country as ours until the civil war broke out; now it is very bad. The rebels are very wicked; turn their hearts to thee, oh Lord. They have done many bad things; they took Sumter, but, oh God, they can't take Pickens!"

BY TELEGRAPH.

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.

Last Night's Report.

NEW YORK, July 20.

The brig Costa Rica has arrived from Aspinwal. She spoke the brig Cuba off Cape Antonio, which reported she had been a prize to the privateer Sumter, but had got away, and had disarmed the rebel crew and put them in irons. Two of them were put on board the Costa Rica and brought up to this port. The privateersmen say they were obliged to ship or starve, and that a number of the Sumter's men are northerners, and will escape the first opportunity that is offered them. The officers are desperate and will blow up the vessel, rather than be captured. Two men and a midshipman of the prize crew remained aboard the Cuba.

NEW YORK, July 20.

A Washington special despatch says it is rumored that Bull's Run is taken, but it is doubtless false. The force of the rebels at Bull's Run, is estimated at 20,000. Fourteen of our wounded died, and fifty more are lying in a stone church at Centerville.

Secretary Cameron has gone down to the seat of war, but is expected to return to-night.

WASHINGTON, July 20.

We have intelligence from Bull's Run up to 7 o'clock last evening, and Fairfax to six o'clock this morning. The fighting has not been renewed except by pickets guard, who are very near.

The two armies are only a mile apart, this being our ground of battle, yesterday and last night, and the enemy within their entrenchments on the other side of Bull's Run.

Gen. Tyler made a general reconnoisance yesterday, but made no discoveries worth noticing.

Night before last five federal troops of a N. Y. regiment, near Fairfax Court House, captured eleven secessionists.

Last night eleven more prisoners were taken by some of the 11th Massachusetts Regiment, also a mail bag containing letters.

The largest house in Centerville has been burned down. The neighbors say it was set on fire by the owner himself.

WASHINGTON, July 20.

Special to the Post.—Gen. Patterson is to be superceded by Gen. Banks, under orders from headquarters. Gen. Banks is transferred from the the war department of Annapolis to that of North Eastern Virginia, and is to be succeeded in the command at Baltimore, by Gen. John A. Dix.

A steamer arrived from Fortress Monroe bringing intelligence that there are no rebels at Acquia Creek or Mathias Point.—They have all gone to Manassas to defend that place if possible.

SENATE.—Mr. Wade offered a resolution that the naval committee be empowered to inquire into the surrender of the navy yards at Pensacola and Norfolk, with power to send for persons and papers. Referred to the committee on naval affairs.

Mr. Johnson of Tennessee introduced a bill to provide for the transportation of arms and munitions of war to loyal citizens in the states now in rebellion, and to provide for organizing them into regiments, &c. He said that the loyal citizens in those states felt that the government was bound to protect them against invasion. Referred to the committee on military affairs.

Mr. Trumbull introduced a bill to provide for holding of circuit district courts during the temporary insurrection. Referred to the committee on judiciary.

The bill providing for the construction of one or more iron clad war vessels, was laid over.

The resolution approving of acts of the president, was taken up.

Mr. Latham spoke and alluded to his friends Breckinridge, Bayard, and others, who charged the President with violating the constitution, but not a word in condemnation of those who openly trampled the constitution under foot.

He said whatever necessity required the President to enforce the law and government was right and proper, even though he might have committed an infraction of authority delegated to him, but he would not sanction the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus in Maryland, because he thought that state showed he allegiance by sending members to congress, and that there was no necessity for such a suspension there, except it was evident that the judiciary of the state was disloyal. No man doubts the loyalty of the chief justice. He thought an increase of the army not warranted by the exigencies of the case, and therefore could not sanction it, but in regard to blockade of ports, a suspension of the writ of habeas corpus in Florida, and all other acts enumerated in the resolutions he gave his most cordial support, and would say here as the representative of a sovereign state of loyal people, if the Pres't had not exercised these powers he would have voted to have him impeached as unfit and unworthy of his place.

Mr. Latham closed with an eloquent declaration, that whatever happens his own state will stand firm by the Union.

Mr. Rice said he wished to endorse all that had been said by his friend from California.

On motion of Mr. Johnson of Tennessee the subject was postponed till Monday.

Executive session adjourned.

Special Dispatch to the Chicago Times.

WASHINGTON, July 21—11 P. M.

The rebels have been driven to Manassas Junction, their ordnance, camp equipage, and army stores fallng into possession of our forces.

The federal force gave them hot pursuit, marking their line of retreat with bodies of the slain.

The pursuit was most admirably conducted, and will be looked upon hereafter as a great military movement, reflecting the utmost credit upon those conducting, as well as those engaged in it.

It is impossible to give the number lost and wounded on either side. Both armies have suffered immensely, the loss to the rebels being undoubtedly vastly greater than that of the Union troops.

The division under Colonel Heintzelman (the third), which has been operating on the left of the line, was brought up to the vicinity of Centreville this morning, with a view of having it in readiness to aid in the battle of Bull's Run, if necessary. This has necessarily changed the general plan of the attack, and the flank movement, to effect which this line was designed, will not be attempted.

At this writing cannonading is distincly heard from the direction of Manassas, and dispatches from Fairfax state that our artillery is shelling the left of the rebel entrenchments at that place.

The report that Gen. Johnston has effected a junction with Beauregard at Manassas is considered here as a canard.

A general engagement, embodying the entire force of both armies, is looked for at Manassas to-morrow.

ST. LOUIS, July 21.

Eighty-five persons, expelled from Texas county by the secessionists, have arrived in this city.

Col. Mulligan's Irish regiment, from Chicago, left the arsenal to-day, and departed from the city by the Pacific railroad. They were all in good health and spirits.

WASHINGTON, July 21.

The firing at Bull's Run could be distinctly heard at the Chain Bridge from a very early hour this morning.

The possession of Bull's Run cuts off the enemy from their only source of water, and if it can be held gives us the victory at Manassas.

The enemy is believed to have no notion of our strength.

The latest dispatches affirm that General McDowell's is victorious at all points, and is pressing, it is believed, on the Junction. Both armies have suffered greatly.

Gen. Lyon has telegraphed for reinforcements. The rebel forces in Missouri are increasing.

Breckinridge was among the most anxious inquirers for news from Bull's Run to-day. Had it been unfavorable, what would have been his course?

Gen. McClellan telegraphs that with three good Colonels of regiments more he could make a clean sweep of the rebels from Western Virginia.

Private letters from Minister Cassius M. Clay say that the feeling in Russia is strongly in sympathy with the Union.

An army order just issued honorably discharges General Patterson on the 27th inst. when his term of service expired. It orders Gen. Banks to assume his command, and Gen. Dix to relieve Gen. Banks at Baltimore immediately. The latter department is henceforth to be known as the Department of Maryland, and the former as the Department of the Shenandoah. Brigadier Generals Cox and Schlosser are honorably discharged on the 30th inst., Bates, August 27th, and Morris July 27th, when their respective terms of service expire.

Another order warns mustering officers against the borrowing of soldiers from one regiment to swell the ranks of another, and prohibits the mustering in of any volunteers who cannot speak English. It empowers Governors of States to fill any vacancies of commissioned officers of their several regiments, and strikes from the rolls Brevet Second Lieutenants Parker, Derrick and Reynolds, of the West Point class just graduated, for having tendered their resignations in the face of the enemy.

Three New York regiments have marched towards Bull's Run. Four others have gone to take the places of four Pennsylvania regiments whose term of service has expired.

Dispatches from Commodore Stringham inform the Navy Department that he has picked up nine slaves at the mouth of the Rappahannock River, who had escaped in a row-boat. They say that the rebels are forcing all the negroes in Middlesex and Essex into regiments, and that the only Union man in their vicinity has been murdered.

Commodore Prendergast discovered a rebel battery near Hatters Inlet, and exchanged a few shots with it.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, July 21.

Special to Herald.—Official despatches say we have taken three batteries in the form of a crescent, numbering 19 guns.

It is known that Manassas Junction is supplied with water by a canal from Bull's Run. This will now be cut off, leaving the rebels without water for their cavalry. That a most brilliant victory has been achieved by our gallant troops, there is no doubt.

High praise is bestowed on the Fire Zouaves and the 69th.

It is reported the former met the Louisiana Zouaves, routed them and captured their colors.

LATER.

Gen. McDowell telegraphs that the enemy is completely routed from Bull's Run, retreating toward Manassas Junction, leaving their batteries in the possession of the Union forces.

The fighting commenced at 3 o'clock this morning and continued most desperately until 2 o'clock this afternoon. The rebels were driven back inch by inch, leaving their dead upon the field. Loss of life on both sides was frightful.

Our troops behaved most gallantly, and their guns were very effective. The whole force on both sides is said to have been engaged, Gen. Johnston having joined the rebels, as previously stated—making Gen. Beauregard's force about 70,000. It is supposed the rebels will suffer greatly at Manassas for want of water.

Herald's correspondence says—When I left the field of battle, I saw rebels flying in vast numbers. Greatest enthusiasm thro' out our ranks.

Jeff Davis is understood to be at Manassas Junction.

Col. Cowdens 1st Massachusetts regiment was fired on several times by rebel pickets as they stepped in road on their arms.

WASHINGTON, July 21—Midnight.

Times' correspondence.—The battle has been one of the severest ever fought on this continent. Up to 2 o'clock our troops had driven the enemy a distance of nearly two miles. As the enemy fell back from one position thus only to another equally as strong and at every point fresh reinforcements were poured in almost without limit as to number. There can be no doubt that their force was at least double ours.

The Fire Zouaves were terribly cut up while drawn up to make an attack. They were assailed by a concealed battery with a strong support on their flank, and were forced to break. It is said both Col. Farnham and Lieut. Col. Cruger are killed, but it may not prove true. The latter at all events was severely wounded. Col. Hunter wounded in the throat. Col. Slocum of the 2d Rhode Island and Capt. Lewis of the 1st, reported killed. Gov. Sprague had a horse shot under him. Major Ballou of the R. I. regiment was severely wounded in the hand and thigh by a cannon ball.

Signed, H. J. RAYMOND.

Times' Washington despatch of Sunday before fight says our troops Saturday night numbered 45,000 and Patterson's column is reported moving down the Winchester road with 15,000 men and is expected to join to-day.

Eleven thousand troops left Alexandria this morning so that by to-night we shall have a superior force there, although this morning we stood 45,000 against 60,000.

WASHINGTON, July 21—5:30 P. M.

Official despotches now before the President, Scott and Mansfield corroborates previous accounts. Say every battery of the enemy was taken, including their guns &c. Fight only ceased when the enemy retired to their Manassas lines.

World's Despatch.—Enemy attempted with an immense force to turn our right flank, which came near being successful, when our large seige gun, a 32-pounder, opened fire causing tremendous havoc on the enemy and routing them.

Members of the house and senators, who came in as civilians vary in their estimates of the killed from 300 to 3000, Facts cannot yet be ascertained.

NEW YORK, July 21.

Arrived schooner S. J. Warring, captured by privateer Jeff. Davis on the night of the 16th, when 50 miles south of Charlestown. Steward, Wm. Talman, colored, killed 3 of prize crew with a hatchet, and the other 2 were released on promising to assist in working the vessel.

BALTIMORE, July 21.

Gen. Dix arrived here to-day, and will to-morrow supercede Gen. Banks who will supercede Gen. Patterson.

The Bridge across the Potomac at Harper's Ferry will be up to-morrow, making connection with the Winchester road to Charleston.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

Repulse of the Federal Troops.

WASHINGTON, July 22, via. Philadelphia.

Our troops, after taking three batteries, and making a great victory, were eventually repulsed, and commenced a retreat on Washington. The retreat was in good order, with rear well covered by a good column. Our loss 2,500 to 3,000. The fortifications around Washington are strongly reinforced by federal troops.

WASHINGTON, July 22.

After the latest information received from Centerville at 7:30 last night, a series of events took place in the intensest degree disastrous. Many confused statements are prevalent. Enough is known to warrant the statement that we have suffered in a degree which has cast a gloom over the remainder of our army, and excited the deepest melancholy throughout Washington.

The carnage was tremendously heavy on both sides, and on ours is represented as frightful. We were advancing and taking their masked batteries gradually but surely, and driving the enemy towards Manassas Junction, when the enemy seemed to have been reinforced by Gen. Johnston, who, it is understood, took command and immediately commenced driving us back, when a panic among our troops suddenly occurred and a regular stampede took place.

It is thought that Gen. McDowell undertook to make a stand at or about Centerville, but the panic was so fearful that the whole army became demoralized, and it was impossible to check them either at Centerville or Fairfax Court House. Gen. McDowell intended to make a stand at Fairfax Court House, but our forces being in full retreat, could not accomplish the object. Beyond Fairfax Court House the retreat was kept up until they reached their regular encampments, a portion of whom returned to them, but a still larger portion coming inside the encampments. A large number of troops in their retreat fell from exhaustion on the way, and were scattered along the route on the way from Fairfax Court House.

According to statement of two of the Fire Zouaves they have only about 200 men left from the slaughter, while the 69th and other regiments frightfully suffered in killed and wounded. The number cannot now be know.

Sherman's, Carlisle's and the West Point batteries were taken by the enemy, and the eight seige (32-pounders) rifled cannon.

The road from Bull's Run was strewed with knapsacks and arms of our troops, deliberately throwning away their guns and apurtenances, the latter to facilitate travel.

McDowell was in the rear of the retreat endeavoring to rally his men but only with partial effect.

Latter part of the army said to make retreat in order. His orders on the field did not at all times reach those for whom they were intended. It is supposed the force against our troops consisted, according to a previous statement, of about 30,000 men including a large number of cavalry.

It is supposed that all the provision train belonging to the U. S. is saved.

Large droves of cattle were saved by being driven back.

It is supposed here to-day that General Mansfield will take command of the fortifications on the other side of the river which are able, it is said by military engineers to hold them against any force the enemy can bring against them.

Large rifled cannon and mortars are being rapidly sent over and mounted.

An officer just from Virginia, 10:30, reports that the road from Centerville to the Potomac is strewn with stragglers. Troops are resuming the occupation of fortifications and entrenchments on the line of the Potomac.

Col. Heintzleman was wounded in the wrist.

In addition to those reported yesterday, it is said that Col. Wilcox, the gallant commander of the 2d brigade, 2d division, was killed.

Capt. McCook, a brother of Col. McCook of Ohio, is also reported killed. The city this forenoon is in most intense excitement. Wagons are constantly arriving, bringing the dead and wounded. The feeling is awfully distressing. Both telegraphic and steamboat communication with Alexandria is suspended to-day to the public.

Greatest alarm prevails in the city. The following is the account of the beginning of the panic which resulted so disastrously to our troops: All our military operations went swimingly and Col. Alexander was about erecting a pontoon bridge across Bull's Run, when a terrific consternation broke out among the teamsters who had incautiously advanced immediately after a body of the army, and lined the Warrington road. Their consternation was shared in by numerous civilians who were on the ground.

The whole army was in retreat for a time, and a perfect panic prevailed, which communicated itself to the vicinity of Centerville and every available conveyance was seized upon. Several similar alarms on previous occasions were caused by a change of the position of our batteries, and it was most probable that the alarm was owing to the same fact.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 20.

By special messenger, just arrived, we learn the following: At 20 minutes past 2, on the 18th inst., Major Van Horn's command of U. S. reserve Home Guards of this place, numbering 170 men, was attacked by 500 rebels under Capt. Duncan, three miles north of Harrisonville. The fight lasted 4 hours, during which time a continual firing was kept up on both sides.

At 20 minutes past 6 the rebels withdrew, leaving the United States troops victorious. The loss of the rebels was 14 killed, including two officers, and several were wounded; while the loss of the federal forces was only one killed.

At 12 o'clock the same command of U. S. troops continued their march, crossing Grand River twice, but were compelled to leave three of their baggage wagons on the bank of the river, in consequence of high water.

Major Van Horn left this place on the morning of the 17th, for the purpose of reinforcing Major Dean, now holding West Point, Mo., with a small force, having routed a hundred of the rebels at that place.

Major Van Horn's command was attacked while at dinner. They planted their flag-staff at 2 o'clock, never giving way an inch, nor removing the flag until after the rebels withdrew. The enemy attempted to flank them on the left, with a company of cavalry, but were completely routed by a detailed force of 25 men under Capt. Bangher.

The Markets.

NEW YORK, July 22.

Flour market without important change. Wheat market more active, but without important change.

THE WHEAT CROP IN ENGLAND.—The London Economist, received by the Canada, speaking of the crops, remarks:

Of the wheat crop we cannot give a very good account. The plant is generally thin, and let the yield from the straw be as large as possible, the crop can scarcely be a full one. The growth of the wheat plant has, however, been very favorable; the color is remarkably good, while the late rains will give it a decided impulse. The breadth sown is comparatively small, and a good deal sown was sown on land in a foul state.

JAMES B. FRY,
Assistant Adjutant-General.

A Hannibal and St. Joseph railroad correspondent writes to the St. Louis Democrat, on the 16th, that the rebels have destroyed $100,000 worth of property on the road. The rebels wont fight openly, but seem to want to destroy all the property they can, and shoot down unprotected Union men. Cavalry are much needed to hunt them out and chase them to their holes.

When is a man thiner than a shingle.—When he s a shaving.

More of the Badgers in Buffalo—The Fourth Wisconsin Regiment.

Notwithstanding the announcement of its intention to proceed to Elmira, via the Erie Railroad from Dunkirk, the Fourth Wisconsin Regiment arrived in Buffalo about six o'clock yesterday morning, and remained here till 10 A. M., when it took passage upon a train on the Buffalo, New York & Erie Railroad. The change in the programme of the journey was not made until the arrival of the Regiment at Dunkirk, when it was ascertained that the Erie Railroad Company was unprovided at that point with sufficient acceptable cars for its accommodation.

About three o'clock A. M., a dispatch came from Barr, announcing that the Regiment had found the accommodations on the Erie road insufficient, and were coming to Buffalo. Then ensued a scene of early activity and bustle hardly to be described. The Tigers ran to drum together their comrades and the Cornet Band; the Chief of Police was roused and made haste to collect his forces; hotels, restaurants, bakeries and eating houses were levied upon for provisions, workmen were summoned to replace some of the tables at the depot which had been removed; and, by dint of efforts almost herculean, the arrival of the Regiment at six o'clock found everything prepared to receive them honorably and entertain them hospitably.

On its debarkation from the cars the Regiment was first marched up into the city, under the escort of the Tigers, preceded by the Union Cornet Band, parading the same route through which the Badger Regiment was led last Sunday. Returning to the depot, the volunteers were marshalled around the tables, and regaled with a substantial and excellent breakfast, including hot coffee, which had been, as we have stated, prepared and collected from a dozen different kitchens, the soldiers, police, and every one, becoming waiters and attendants. The officers and their ladies were meanwhile breakfasted at the American Hotel.

The extraordinary energy with which sudden preparation was made for the reception and entertainment of this unexpected army, deserves for all who were engaged in the effort more praise than can be expressed. The chief credit is undoubtedly due to the gentlemen of the railroad, Messrs. Brown, Barr, Collamer, Gates, and others, with the Omnibus Company and a few outside parties beside, who assume the expense, we understand, of the refreshments provided. Hardly less commendation must be bestowed up. on the Tigers, but for whom the visitors would have had no military courtesies extended to them.

The departure of the regiment on the Buffalo, New York and Erie Railroad, took place about 10 o'clock. By this time a large crowd had assembled, and adieus were exchanged in the form of tremendous cheers from both sides.

The Fourth Wisconsin Regiment of Volunteers is composed of much the same robust and noble class of men which we described the other day as constituting the Third Regiment of the same brave State. Its numerical strength is greater, aggregating 1100 men, and its equipments are in some respects superior. It is thoroughly provided with tents, horses, and every necessary appurtenance. In its parade through the streets yesterday morning, the staff officers were mounted, and most of them splendidly. One of them is said to have paid $1000 for the animal which he takes into service.—Buffalo Express, 18th.

GOOD PLUCK.—A young man from Lisbon, when about enlisting in the Waukesha Union Guard, was asked, "if he could sleep on the point of a bayonet," when he promptly replied, by saying, "he could try it, as he had often slept on a pint of whisky, and the kind they used in Lisbon would kill further than any shooting iron he ever saw."

It is needless to add that he was immediately mustered in, without any further inquiries.

HOW SOL. WISE WAS CAPTURED.—A Martinsburg correspondent of the New York Tribune states, that during the battle of the Falling Waters, a soldier (Sol. Wise, of Mazo Manie,) of Capt. Fairchild's company, First Wisconsin Regiment, was deployed as skirmisher on one of the wings; when the order was given to call the skirmishers in, he evidently did not hear it, and was in consequence left alone in the woods. He undertook to rejoin his comrades, but missed the way, and soon came upon a rebel regiment. Of them he inquired—"Can you tell me where the 1st Wisconsin is?" "No, but you can board with us for a short time," and thus the young Badger found himself a prisoner.

CAPT. ELY SAFE.—Capt. Ely was in the battled at Bull's Run, but was uninjured, as will be seen by the following, which was received just as we go to press:

ALEXANDRIA, July 22.

MRS. GEO. B. ELY:—I was in the battle yesterday, but was not injured.

GEO. B. ELY.

Correspondence of the Daily Gazette.

CAMP RANDALL, July 19.

MR. EDITOR:—Thinking you would like to hear from Camp Randall occasionally, I improve the present opportunity of writing you upon such topics as are common in camp life. Indeed, the duties of a soldier being the same each and every day, he naturally becomes weary, and longs for a change. Nevertheless, there are many occurrences both of an interesting and amusing character, which tend to animate and gladden the tented life in a camp. Probably among the different duties required at this camp, that of standing as sentinel in and around the encampment is the most interesting. The two regiments mount one hundred and forty men each day. At night the outer posts are doubly guarded to prevent the boys from making their nightly excursions; and when it becomes too dark for the sentinel to distinguish objects at any distance, they commence challenging, and no one is allowed to pass the line without giving the countersign.

An amusing story is told of one of the sentinels, as follows: During the night of the 14th, while the officer of the day with his body guard were making the "grand round," the countersign for the night being Chippewa, he had occasion to pass an honest Dutchman, who was zealously guarding his post, and was challenged thus: "What for you come deir?" and was answered: "Grand round;" upon which he replied, "Den, by d—n, say Jibbewa—quick, or I stick you mit my bayonet!"

During the time the two regiments have been in camp, there has not been one fight or any incivility on the grounds; and I doubt whether there ever was a more peaceable set of men collected together. Col. Cobb is all that the men under him can wish for. Although pressed with business, he has a kind word for all who salute him kindly. During the time he has commanded, he has not made a blunder, but gives his orders promptly, and in a loud, clear voice. He evinces an unusual military talent, which so eminently fits one for a military commander. Lieut. Col. Emery is a good officer, and will distinguish himself when the time comes. Our gallant Major, Larabee, is the boast of the whole regiment and wherever you see him bustle, then something is to be accomplished of importance. He is a capital major, and to use the language of the "boys," "has got the grit."

There has been some dissatisfaction manifested among the soldiers with regard to their rations not being always without taint, but since the memorable 4th of July, which the Madison papers have so much to say about, our victuals are only palatable, to say the most of them—while before that time they were an imposition upon the men who had volunteered in the service of their country.

The intention of Col. Cobb is to change the drill of the regiment from heavy to light infantry; and accordingly, the regiment has contracted for one thousand leggins—the same as those used by the Zouaves.

The supper at this camp last night was a perfect success, and does honor to the fair ladies of Dane county. We thank the ladies for so soon atoning for the ill treatment which was given us on the 4th at Madison.

The evening parade of the two regiments was witnessed by a large concourse of visitors. After the regiment had manœuvered for a short time under the eye of Gen. Stevens, they were drawn up in open squares, and presented with two rich, blue colors, by Lieut. Gov. Noble. On giving them to the color guard of each regiment, the commanding officers addressed the regiments in a feeling manner. At the conclusion of the ceremonies, Major Larabee called upon the boys of the 5th to kneel with him and swear to protect the flag in every trying contest, and to shield it from every danger,—which they complied with in good taste.

A BEAUTIFUL EXTRACT.—The following extract is the closing portion of the speech of the Hon. Joseph Holt, of Kentucky, recently delivered at Louisville. Truly, such a man is worthy the home of Henry Clay:

If this government is to be destroyed, ask yourselves; are you willing it shall be recorded in history that Kentucky stood by by in the greatness of her strength and lifted not a hand to stay the catastrophe? If it is to be saved—as I verily believe it is—are you willing it shall be written that in the immeasurable glory which must attend the achievement Kentucky had no part?

I will only add, if Kentucky wishes the waters of her beautiful Ohio to be dyed in blood; if she wishes her harvest fields, now waving in their abundance, to be trampled under the feet of hostile soldiery as a flower garden is trampled beneath the threshings of the tempest; if she wishes the homes where her loved ones are now gathered in peace, invaded by the proscriptive fury of a military despotism, sparing neither life nor property; if she wishes the streets of her towns and cities grown with grass and the steamboats of her rivers to lie rotting at her wharves, then let her join the southern confederacy. But if she would have the bright waters of that river flow on in their gladness; if she would have her harvests peacefully gathered in her garners; if she would have the lullabies of her cradles and the songs of her homes uninvaded by the cries and terrors of battle; if she would have the streets of her towns and cities again filled with the hum and throngs of busy trade, and her rivers and their shores once more vocal with the steamer's whistle—that anthem of a free and prosperous commerce—then let her stand fast by the stars and stripes, and do her duty and her whole duty as a member of the Union. Let her brave people say to the President of the United States, "You are our chief magistrate; the government you have in charge and are striving to save from dishonor and dismemberment is our government; your cause is indeed our cause; your battles are our battles; make room for us, therefore, in the ranks of your armies, that your triumph may be our triumph also."

Even as with the Father of us all I would plead for salvation, so my countrymen, upon my very knees, would I plead with you for the life, aye for the life, of our great and beneficent institutions. But if the traitor's knife now at the throat of the republic is to do its work, and this government is fated to add yet another to that long line of sepulchres which whiten the highway of the past, then my heartfelt prayer to God is that it may be written in history, that the blood of its life was not found upon the skirts of Kentucky.

FROM MISSOURI.—We last evening conversed with a gentleman of our acquaintance who had just arrived direct from southern Kansas, near the Missouri border where he resides. He came by the way of Leavenworth to St. Joseph, and thence over the Hannibal and St. Joseph and Quincy and Palmyra railroads to Quincy, in this state. He says the cars on these roads are now running regularly, and that there is only one break along the whole line from St. Joseph, which is at Salt Lake Creek, where the bridge has been destroyed by the rebels—and the whole line is now thoroughly guarded by Union soldiers, numbering in all about six thousand men. He says there are still many secession desperadoes prowling about, mostly on horseback, in northern Missouri, but our soldiers are more than enough for them.

Our friend was within a few miles of the scene of the battle in south-western Missouri between Col. Siegel's federal force and Jackson's rebels, near Carthage, when it took place, and had subsequently visited the battle-field. He says, Col. Siegel's force did not exceed 1,100 men, while Jackson had an army of 8,000—and that a more skillfully managed affair than that of Siegel's in this engagement is unknown in the annals of war. The secessionists in the vicinity of the battle field freely acknowledge that not less than 400 of Jackson's desperadoes were slain in that conflict.

Our friend, who has been much among the Missourians of the western border, says that portions of the men who favor secession, and have taken the field for it, are the most cowardly and ruffianly set of rascals imaginable. They won't come up to a fair fight with the federal forces. The only danger to be apprehended from them is the sneaking and cowardly system of guerilla warfare. They fire from the bushes, and then run.

Our informant, from what he heard from reliable sources before leaving that region, has no doubt that Gen. Lyon has before this time effected a junction with Col. Siegel's force, and that Gen. Lyon probably now is in command of a consolidated army of not less than 10,000 men.

Capt. Montgomery, of Kansas notoriety, is organizing a regiment of cavalry and infantry and one company of artillery, consisting of regular dare-devils, in southern Kansas, preparatory to going into Missouri to pay his respects to the prowling traitors along the border.

It is our informant's opinion that both McCullock and Claib. Jackson, have ere now been driven into Arkansas.—Chicago Journal.

A MAN BLOWN TO PIECES BY DETONATING POWDER.—The following in regard to the death of an eminent chemist of Richmond, Va., we take from the Dispatch:

Mr. Joseph Laidley, the well-known chemist, came to an untimely, sudden and horrible death about twenty minutes to one o'clock yesterday, by the explosion of a quantity of detonating powder, which he and an assistant named Robert Clayton, of Manchester, were preparing for the use of the confederate army, in a building erected for their use on an eminence in the rear of the state armory. At the hour above named, an explosion was heard resembling the discharge of a six-pounder. On repairing to the place, a scene of horror met the gaze.

The wooden out-building and the interior one in which the powder was manufactured were found blown down, and many of the timbers wrenched, twisted and broken, in a manner to show the almost inconceivable power of the powder.

Mr. Laidley was found lying on his back, one of the most horrible objects of mutilated humanity of which it is possible to conceive. Within a few yards of the body was found a portion of the poor man's brains, looking as it they had been torn by a superhuman agency from the skull, and splashed upon the floor. The entire head, except the lower jaw, had been blown off, and nothing remained to mark the features of a man, except a pair of whiskers and a portion of the neck. The right arm was torn off below the elbow, and from the bloody stump hung the fragments of nerves, veins and sinews which were left behind. The hand was afterwards found about two hundred yards from the place of the explosion; in the yard of the state armory, a portion of the face was likewise found (it is said) three hundred yards distant, near the banks of the river. The search for the remainder proved unavailing.

His assistant, Mr. Clayton, was found in a reclining posture against a post, doubled up as if he had suffered a fearful contortion. He was perfectly insensible, and so remained up to a late hour last night, but it was not ascertained to what extent he was internally injured.

A hypocrite may spin so fair a thread as to deceive his own eyes. He may admire the cobweb, and not know himself to be the spider.

A SCRAP OF HISTORY.—Regularly, at every term of court which is held in this village, there is a woman in attendance whose singular behavior in the court room and in the street, not unfrequently subjects her to the unfeeling jest of the rude and thoughtless observer. There is a history connected with that woman, a knowledge of which may hereafter save her from such annoyances. Some five or six years ago, while residing in a neighboring town, a few young men, out of pure mischief, but with no malicious motives other than to have a little merriment at her expense, opened a correspondence with her through the post office, and affixed to the letters the name of a highly respectable and wealthy citizen. Progressing rapidly through all the stages of an epistolary courtship, a formal declaration of love was finally made, and her hand solicited in marriage. Unconscious of foul play, the poor woman had regularly answered the letters which had been sent her, and responded promptly and favorably to the offer of marriage.

The object of the conspirators was attained, the whole affair soon became a matter of neighborhood gossip, and the result was that the woman became insane. Religiously believing that she was married to the man with whom she had been corresponding, she has, for the last five years, been urging her claims to her fancied husband's property, before every court that has been held here, and seems always hopeful of ultimate success. She was praticularly attentive to the Hon. N. Cobb, late county judge, and invariably commenced her appeals to him by addressing him as "Supreme Cobb!" She is also a frequent visitor at the county clerk's office, where she thinks the records are kept which are to restore to her at some future time her marital rights. She can now be seen on our streets almost every day, walking about with a slow and measured tread, and tho'tful air, hopelessly, irremediably mad upon one subject—that of her supposed marriage—the victim of a cruel and heartless plot.—Cattaraugus Freeman.

TRIAL OF SHARPSHOOTERS.—We crossed the lake yesterday afternoon to witness the trial of sharpshooters, which took place near the edge of the marsh between the railroad and the Water Cure. Some 15 or 20 men entered their names for the war, which was the condition of putting them on trial. Gen. Utley was on the ground superintending the matter, with two heavy telescopic-sighted rifles, such as are designed to be used in the sharpshooting service. The test for the day was to put three successive shots within a nine inch ring, at 200 yards distance. Every man, we understand, who entered the list, fulfilled the conditions, with the guns to be used in the service, and some of them put three shots within an inch and a half of the center.

With ordinary rifles this would be great shooting, but with such guns as are prepared for this service, a man would be a poor shot indeed, who could not make a pretty fair show with one of them. They are made of cast steel and weigh about 18 pounds, with a telescopic sight by which the ball-hole can be distinguished from one that has been plugged, at the distance of 200 yards. The rest is also arranged to steady both ends of the rifle.

This mode of testing marksmanship one would suppose to be very imperfect for war purposes; but we understand that this kind of service is not designed for skirmishers or open field service. The sharpshooters occupy trenches and shoot at rest, and their principal business is to pick off artillery men at the batteries and aid in silencing them. One such company would easily silence a battery or delay its operations till cavalry could storm and capture it.

A bystander, not understanding the nature of this kind of service, on witnessing the arrangements, remarked that he supposed they calculated to tie the secessionists up to a tree, and carry along a work bench to rest across. If the sharpshooters should have occasion to make a sharp run, their rifles would be found too large a bore.—Madison Argus.

ACCIDENT TO ONE OF THE WISCONSIN REGIMENT OFFICERS.—A most unfortunate accident occurred yesterday, to one of the officers of the 4th Wisconsin regiment, Lieut. Tubbs, company E, on the train which brought the regiment to this city. Shortly before arriving here, Lieut. Tubbs attempted to pass from the sleeping car to one of the baggage cars, over the roofs of the train, when he was struck in the breast by a bridge, which in the dim light of the early morning he failed to discern in time to avoid. Fortunately he was not knocked off the roof, and was able to climb back to the car from which he started; but when the train arrived he was suffering severely from the injury he received. It is undoubtedly serious, and may prove fatal. He was conveyed to the American Hotel, and now remains there.—Buffalo Express, 18th.

MICHIGAN WOOL.—Since our last quotations wool has obstinately refused to move any more freely, and we have no especial change to note. Buyers offer from 22 to 28 cents, which figures do not satisfy holders, and those who do sell do not do so with good grace. The purchase to date will not exceed 100,000 pounds, and had prices been satisfactory they would have reached 500,000 pounds, and the market closed out.—Ann Arbor Argus.

To the Land Owners of Janesville.

Being about to leave for my post at Galway, Ireland, if those citizens having cheap lands for sale in this state, will furnish me with particulars, of the lowest price, terms of payment, quantity, quality, location, &c., I will most probably be enabled to find Irish purchasers, to whom my extensive knowledge of this country and my having written so copiously on it, enables me to give valuable information, and thus promote the best interests of all parties concerned. As for salubrity of climate and adaptation for agriculture, I think Wisconsin superior to any other western state, and my numerous friends here may rest assured that their beautiful "Bower City of the West," with its many educational and business facilities shall not be overlooked or forgotten. Important to Farmers!

WOODRUFF'S

Patent Portable

BAROMETER.

Cheapness, Accuracy, Simplicity, Durability, Portability and Beauty of Finish Combined.

INVENTED BY

L. WOODRUFF,

for many years Practical Meteorologist of the

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTE.

It Tells you when to expect Rain!

It Tells you when to expect Fair Weather!

It Tells you when to expect Wind!

It tells you your height above the level of the sea, or as compared with your neighbors!

Its use will add five per cent to the value of your crops by enabling you to secure them uninjured by storms!

In England and on the Continent, where art and science, as applied in aid of labor, are in some branches at least far ahead of our own country, the Barometer is to be found in the hands of almost every husbandman. Its convenience and utility are just as well recognized as that of the clock.

Experience shows that wherever the Barometer has been introduced in this country, it is equally satisfactory. In fact it is a necessity in our proverbially variable climate, for in Wisconsin alone millions of bushels of grain have been lost through the lack of some reliable means of foretelling the weather. Depending as it does upon the well known natural law that no atmospheric change can occur without destroying its equilibrium, thus producing a change in its density and weight, which, by its action upon the sensitive surface of the mercury, is infallibly indicated by the rise or fall of the column, it will at once be seen that when properly constructed, the slightest change in the weather will be preceded by a change in the Barometer.

While to the farmer it is indispensable, oftentimes saving many times its cost in a single day, to the painter, builder, master carpenter, brick-moulder, and all other out-door workmen and mechanics, it is of scarcely less importance; and in short, there is no class in community to whom it would not sooner or later save many times its expense. Schools should not consider their apparatus complete without it.

We claim for this instrument the following merits in preference to all other instruments of the kind:

1st. Its cheapness. Until recently the Barometer has been so difficult of construction and so costly as to place it beyond the reach of all but the wealthy; but this instrument is sold so low as to be within the means of all, being by far the cheapest reliable Barometer extant.

2d. Its portability. A great difficulty in obtaining these instruments heretofore has been that they could not be transported, its extreme delicacy of construction rendering it necessary to be made and adjusted in the place where used, but by a simple arrangement this instrument can be rendered in a moment perfectly portable, so that it can be subject to the roughest usage without injury.

3d. Its durability. No wood or leather is used about the cistern, which is wholly of cast iron, forming the most durable instrument of the kind possible.

4th. It is a Mercurial Cistern Barometer, which is the only form endorsed by the highest scientific authority. The ordinary cheap Barometers and all Aneroid or dial-faced Barometers have been condemned as unreliable by the U. S Coast Survey, and Smithsonian Institute, Washington.

5th Its simplicity. While it combines with all the real improvements that have been given to the instrument for two centuries, other and valuable improvements possessed by no other, it is the simplest possible form of Barometer.

6th. It is not affected by the change of temperature as are the Union and other Barometers, (thus rendering it necessary to adjust them every time an observation is taken, and then it is only an approximate one,) but is acted upon solely by the different degrees of density of weight of the air, as affected by various atmospheric phenomena.

7th. Its thorough workmanship and beautiful finish render it at once highly ornamental, accurate and durable, while the addition of a Thermometer Index, and Vernier scale upon a brass plate, render it by far the most complete instrument of the kind ever offered to the public.

Premiums have been awarded it by the New York, Michigan and U. S. Agricultural Societies, over all competitors.

Prof. J. C. Holmes, State Agricultural College, Lansing, Mich., says:—"The Barometer you made for me has proved to be an excellent instrument. It is perfectly accurate. I would recommend a trial of one to every farmer."

Says Hon. H. Greeley:—"There is no article so much needed among farmers as a good Barometer. You ought to sell ten thousand of them this present season in the state of New York alone. The fact that times are hard and money scarce, is only additional reason why farmers should purchase them as an article of economy in saving their crops from damage and waste."

The following scientific gentlemen, with many others, have permitted the use of their names as references:

GEO. P. WILLIAMS, LL D, Prof. Natural Philosophy and Mathematics, University of Michigan; S. H. DOUGLASS, A. M., M. D, Prof. of Chemistry, University of Michigan; E. S. CARR, M. D, Prof. of Natural Science, Wisconsin State University.

Fifth and Sixth Regiments Called.

We learn from Madison that Gen. Scott has called for the 5th and 6th regiments at Madison to proceed to Washington immediatdly.

CAPT. ELY SAFE.—Capt. Ely was in the battled at Bull's Run, but was uninjured, as will be seen by the following, which was received just as we go to press:

ALEXANDRIA, July 22.

MRS. GEO. B. ELY:—I was in the battle yesterday, but was not injured.

GEO. B. ELY.

Correspondence of the Daily Gazette.

CAMP RANDALL, July 19.

MR. EDITOR:—Thinking you would like to hear from Camp Randall occasionally, I improve the present opportunity of writing you upon such topics as are common in camp life. Indeed, the duties of a soldier being the same each and every day, he naturally becomes weary, and longs for a change. Nevertheless, there are many occurrences both of an interesting and amusing character, which tend to animate and gladden the tented life in a camp. Probably among the different duties required at this camp, that of standing as sentinel in and around the encampment is the most interesting. The two regiments mount one hundred and forty men each day. At night the outer posts are doubly guarded to prevent the boys from making their nightly excursions; and when it becomes too dark for the sentinel to distinguish objects at any distance, they commence challenging, and no one is allowed to pass the line without giving the countersign.

An amusing story is told of one of the sentinels, as follows: During the night of the 14th, while the officer of the day with his body guard were making the "grand round," the countersign for the night being Chippewa, he had occasion to pass an honest Dutchman, who was zealously guarding his post, and was challenged thus: "What for you come deir?" and was answered: "Grand round;" upon which he replied, "Den, by d—n, say Jibbewa—quick, or I stick you mit my bayonet!"

During the time the two regiments have been in camp, there has not been one fight or any incivility on the grounds; and I doubt whether there ever was a more peaceable set of men collected together. Col. Cobb is all that the men under him can wish for. Although pressed with business, he has a kind word for all who salute him kindly. During the time he has commanded, he has not made a blunder, but gives his orders promptly, and in a loud, clear voice. He evinces an unusual military talent, which so eminently fits one for a military commander. Lieut. Col. Emery is a good officer, and will distinguish himself when the time comes. Our gallant Major, Larabee, is the boast of the whole regiment' and wherever you see him bustle, then something is to be accomplished of importance. He is a capital major, and to use the language of the "boys," "has got the grit."

There has been some dissatisfaction manifested among the soldiers with regard to their rations not being always without taint, but since the memorable 4th of July, which the Madison papers have so much to say about, our victuals are only palatable, to say the most of them—while before that time they were an imposition upon the men who had volunteered in the service of their country.

The intention of Col. Cobb is to change the drill of the regiment from heavy to light infantry; and accordingly, the regiment has contracted for one thousand leggins—the same as those used by the Zouaves.

The supper at this camp last night was a perfect success, and does honor to the fair ladies of Dane county. We thank the ladies for so soon atoning for the ill treatment which was given us on the 4th at Madison.

The evening parade of the two regiments was witnessed by a large concourse of visitors. After the regiment had manœuvered for a short time under the eye of Gen. Stevens, they were drawn up in open squares, and presented with two rich, blue colors, by Lieut. Gov. Noble. On giving them to the color guard of each regiment, the commanding officers addressed the regiments in a feeling manner. At the conclusion of the ceremonies, Major Larabee called upon the boys of the 5th to kneel with him and swear to protect the flag in every trying contest, and to shield it from every danger,—which they complied with in good taste.

Fire Zouaves Election.

The Fire Zouaves will meet at the Court Room on Wednesday evening next, at 7½ o'clock, to elect the following officers:—Captain, 1st and 2nd Lieutenants and Orderly Sergeant. Let every member be punctual in attendance.

This company not being full all persons wishing to join had better report themselves immediately.

WM. H. SARGENT, Secretary.

The many admirers of Mrs. Elizabeth Barrett Browning, whose vigorous pen has so often and so long charmed the reading world of Europe and America, will learn with sincere regret that she is dead. She died in Italy on the 29th of June.

ATTENTION, COMPANY!—The zouaves meet for business to-morrow night at 7:45. The new constitution will be offered to the company for adoption, and other business of importance will be transacted. Let all the members be present.

GAGE BURGESS, Sec'y.

A BEAUTIFUL EXTRACT.—The following extract is the closing portion of the speech of the Hon. Joseph Holt, of Kentucky, recently delivered at Louisville. Truly, such a man is worthy the home of Henry Clay:

If this government is to be destroyed, ask yourselves; are you willing it shall be recorded in history that Kentucky stood by by in the greatness of her strength and lifted not a hand to stay the catastrophe? If it is to be saved—as I verily believe it is—are you willing it shall be written that in the immeasurable glory which must attend the achievement Kentucky had no part?

I will only add, if Kentucky wishes the waters of her beautiful Ohio to be dyed in blood; if she wishes her harvest fields, now waving in their abundance, to be trampled under the feet of hostile soldiery as a flower garden is trampled beneath the threshings of the tempest; if she wishes the homes where her loved ones are now gathered in peace, invaded by the proscriptive fury of a military despotism, sparing neither life nor property; if she wishes the streets of her towns and cities grown with grass and the steamboats of her rivers to lie rotting at her wharves, then let her join the southern confederacy. But if she would have the bright waters of that river flow on in their gladness; if she would have her harvests peacefully gathered in her garners; if she would have the lullabies of her cradles and the songs of her homes uninvaded by the cries and terrors of battle; if she would have the streets of her towns and cities again filled with the hum and throngs of busy trade, and her rivers and their shores once more vocal with the steamer's whistle—that anthem of a free and prosperous commerce—then let her stand fast by the stars and stripes, and do her duty and her whole duty as a member of the Union. Let her brave people say to the President of the United States, "You are our chief magistrate; the government you have in charge and are striving to save from dishonor and dismemberment is our government; your cause is indeed our cause; your battles are our battles; make room for us, therefore, in the ranks of your armies, that your triumph may be our triumph also."

Even as with the Father of us all I would plead for salvation, so my countrymen, upon my very knees, would I plead with you for the life, aye for the life, of our great and beneficent institutions. But if the traitor's knife now at the throat of the republic is to do its work, and this government is fated to add yet another to that long line of sepulchres which whiten the highway of the past, then my heartfelt prayer to God is that it may be written in history, that the blood of its life was not found upon the skirts of Kentucky.

FROM MISSOURI.—We last evening conversed with a gentleman of our acquaintance who had just arrived direct from southern Kansas, near the Missouri border where he resides. He came by the way of Leavenworth to St. Joseph, and thence over the Hannibal and St. Joseph and Quincy and Palmyra railroads to Quincy, in this state. He says the cars on these roads are now running regularly, and that there is only one break along the whole line from St. Joseph, which is at Salt Lake Creek, where the bridge has been destroyed by the rebels—and the whole line is now thoroughly guarded by Union soldiers, numbering in all about six thousand men. He says there are still many secession desperadoes prowling about, mostly on horseback, in northern Missouri, but our soldiers are more than enough for them.

Our friend was within a few miles of the scene of the battle in south-western Missouri between Col. Siegel's federal force and Jackson's rebels, near Carthage, when it took place, and had subsequently visited the battle-field. He says Col. Siegel's force did not exceed 1,100 men, while Jackson had an army of 8,000—and that a more skillfully managed affair than that of Siegel's in this engagement is unknown in the annals of war. The secessionists in the vicinity of the battle field freely acknowledge that not less than 400 of Jackson's desperadoes were slain in that conflict.

Our friend, who has been much among the Missourians of the western border, says that portions of the men who favor secession, and have taken the field for it, are the most cowardly and ruffianly set of rascals imaginable. They won't come up to a fair fight with the federal forces. The only danger to be apprehended from them is the sneaking and cowardly system of guerilla warfare. They fire from the bushes, and then run.

Our informant, from what he heard from reliable sources before leaving that region, has no doubt that Gen. Lyon has before this time effected a junction with Col. Siegel's force, and that Gen. Lyon probably now is in command of a consolidated army of not less than 10,000 men.

Capt. Montgomery, of Kansas notoriety, is organizing a regiment of cavalry and infantry and one company of artillery, consisting of regular dare-devils, in southern Kansas, preparatory to going into Missouri to pay his respects to the prowling traitors along the border.

It is our informant's opinion that both McCullock and Claib. Jackson, have ere now been driven into Arkansas.—Chicago Journal.

A MAN BLOWN TO PIECES BY DETONATING POWDER.—The following in regard to the death of an eminent chemist of Richmond, Va., we take from the Dispatch:

Mr. Joseph Laidley, the well-known chemist, came to an untimely, sudden and horrible death about twenty minutes to one o'clock yesterday, by the explosion of a quantity of detonating powder, which he and an assistant named Robert Clayton, of Manchester, were preparing for the use of the confederate army, in a building erected for their use on an eminence in the rear of the state armory. At the hour above named, an explosion was heard resembling the discharge of a six-pounder. On repairing to the place, a scene of horror met the gaze.

The wooden out-building and the interior one in which the powder was manufactured were found blown down, and many of the timbers wrenched, twisted and broken, in a manner to show the almost inconceivable power of the powder.

Mr. Laidley was found lying on his back, one of the most horrible objects of mutilated humanity of which it is possible to conceive. Within a few yards of the body was found a portion of the poor man's brains, looking as if they had been torn by a superhuman agency from the skull, and splashed upon the floor. The entire head, except the lower jaw, had been blown off, and nothing remained to mark the features of a man, except a pair of whiskers and a portion of the neck. The right arm was torn off below the elbow, and from the bloody stump hung the fragments of nerves, veins and sinews which were left behind. The hand was afterwards found about two hundred yards from the place of the explosion; in the yard of the state armory, a portion of the face was likewise found (it is said) three hundred yards distant, near the banks of the river. The search for the remainder proved unavailing.

His assistant, Mr. Clayton, was found in a reclining posture against a post, doubled up as if he had suffered a fearful contortion. He was perfectly insensible, and so remained up to a late hour last night, but it was not ascertained to what extent he was internally injured.

A hypocrite may spin so fair a thread to deceive his own eyes. He may admire the cobweb, and not know himself to be the spider.

A SCRAP OF HISTORY.—Regularly, at every term of court which is held in this village, there is a woman in attendance whose singular behavior in the court room and in the street, not unfrequently subjects her to the unfeeling jest of the rude and thoughtless observer. There is a history connected with that woman, a knowledge of which may hereafter save her from such annoyances. Some five or six years ago, while residing in a neighboring town, a few young men, out of pure mischief, but with no malicious motives other than to have a little merriment at her expense, opened a correspondence with her through the post office, and affixed to the letters the name of a highly respectable and wealthy citizen. Progressing rapidly through all the stages of an epistolary courtship, a formal declaration of love was finally made, and her hand solicited in marriage. Unconscious of foul play, the poor woman had regularly answered the letters which had been sent her, and responded promptly and favorably to the offer of marriage.

The object of the conspirators was attained, the whole affair soon became a matter of neighborhood gossip, and the result was that the woman became insane. Religiously believing that she was married to the man with whom she had been corresponding, she has, for the last five years, been urging her claims to her fancied husband's property, before every court that has been held here, and seems always hopeful of ultimate success. She was praticularly attentive to the Hon. N. Cobb, late county judge, and invariably commenced her appeals to him by addressing him as "Supreme Cobb!" She is also a frequent visitor at the county clerk's office, where she thinks the records are kept which are to restore to her at some future time her marital rights. She can now be seen on our streets almost every day, walking about with a slow and measured tread, and tho'tful air, hopelessly, irremediably mad upon one subject—that of her supposed marriage—the victim of a cruel and heartless plot.—Cattaraugus Freeman.

TRIAL OF SHARPSHOOTERS.—We crossed the lake yesterday afternoon to witness the trial of sharpshooters, which took place near the edge of the marsh between the railroad and the Water Cure. Some 15 or 20 men entered their names for the war, which was the condition of putting them on trial. Gen. Utley was on the ground superintending the matter, with two heavy telescopic-sighted rifles, such as are designed to be used in the sharpshooting service. The test for the day was to put three successive shots within a nine inch ring, at 200 yards distance. Every man, we understand, who entered the list, fulfilled the conditions, with the guns to be used in the service, and some of them put three shots within an inch and a half of the center.

With ordinary rifles this would be great shooting, but with such guns as are prepared for this service, a man would be a poor shot indeed, who could not make a pretty fair show with one of them. They are made of cast steel and weigh about 18 pounds, with a telescopic sight by which the ball-hole can be distinguished from one that has been plugged, at the distance of 200 yards. The rest is also arranged to steady both ends of the rifle.

This mode of testing marksmanship one would suppose to be very imperfect for war purposes; but we understand that this kind of service is not designed for skirmishers or open field service. The sharpshooters occupy trenches and shoot at rest, and their principal business is to pick off artillery men at the batteries and aid in silencing them. One such company would easily silence a battery or delay its operations till cavalry could storm and capture it.

A bystander, not understanding the nature of this kind of service, on witnessing the arrangements, remarked that he supposed they calculated to tie the secessionists up to a tree, and carry along a work bench to rest across. If the sharpshooters should have occasion to make a sharp run, their rifles would be found too large a bore.—Madison Argus.

ACCIDENT TO ONE OF THE WISCONSIN REGIMENT OFFICERS.—A most unfortunate accident occurred yesterday, to one of the officers of the 4th Wisconsin regiment, Lieut. Tubbs, company E, on the train which brought the regiment to this city. Shortly before arriving here, Lieut. Tubbs attempted to pass from the sleeping car to one of the baggage cars, over the roofs of the train, when he was struck in the breast by a bridge, which in the dim light of the early morning he failed to discern in time to avoid. Fortunately he was not knocked off the roof, and was able to climb back to the car from which he started; but when the train arrived he was suffering severely from the injury he received. It is undoubtedly serious, and may prove fatal. He was conveyed to the American Hotel, and now remains there.—Buffalo Express, 18th.

MICHIGAN WOOL.—Since our last quotations wool has obstinately refused to move any more freely, and we have no especial change to note. Buyers offer from 22 to 28 cents, which figures do not satisfy holders, and those who do sell do not do so with good grace. The purchase to date will not exceed 100,000 pounds, and had prices been satisfactory they would have reached 500,000 pounds, and the market closed out.—Ann Arbor Argus.

To the Land Owners of Janesville.

Being about to leave for my post at Galway, Ireland, if those citizens having cheap lands for sale in this state, will furnish me with particulars, of the lowest price, terms of payment, quantity, quality, location, &c., I will most probably be enabled to find Irish purchasers, to whom my extensive knowledge of this country and my having written so copiously on it, enables me to give valuable information, and thus promote the best interests of all parties concerned. As for salubrity of climate and adaptation for agriculture, I think Wisconsin superior to any other western state, and my numerous friends here may rest assured that their beautiful "Bower City of the West," with its many educational and business facilities shall not be overlooked or forgotten. COMMERCIAL.

Janesville Wholesale Market.

Reported for the Janesville Gazette, BY BUMP & GRAY. GRAIN AND PRODUCE DEALERS.

JANESVILLE, JULY 22, 1861.

Owing to a better supply, the wheat market was not quite as firm to-day as on Saturday, and we note a decline of 1@2c per bushel. Sales of about 3000 bushels at 68@72c for milling grades, and 55@65c for dry shipping, closing with a fair demand at those rates. Receipts of coarse grains light and market firm at fully quotations:

We make up prices as follows:

WHEAT—good to choice milling spring 68a72, currency; fair to good dry shipping 55a65; rejected 30a45. The above figures are for currency, a deduction of 5 and 8c per bushel is made payable in gold.

CORN—16a18 per 60 lbs. shelled, and 14a16c per 72 lbs., ear.

OATS—good local and shipping demand at 14a15.

RYE—quiet at 20a25c per 60 lbs.

BARLEY—dull sale at 15a25c per 50 lbs., common to good quality.

TIMOTHY SEED—dull at 1,40a1,75 per 46 lbs.

POTATOES—plenty and very dull at 10a15c. pur

BUTTER—plenty at 10a12½c fair to choice roll.

EGGS—plenty and dull at 6c per dozen.

WOOL—ranges at 15a27c for common to choice fair clean clips.

SHEEP PELTS—range from 30c@90 each.

Important to Farmers!

WOODRUFF'S

Patent Portable

BAROMETER.

Cheapness, Accuracy, Simplicity, Durability, Portability and Beauty of Finish Combined.

INVENTED BY

L. WOODRUFF,

for many years Practical Meteorologist of the

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTE.

It Tells you when to expect Rain!

It Tells you when to expect Fair Weather!

It Tells you when to expect Wind!

It tells you your height above the level of the sea, or as compared with your neighbors!

Its use will add five per cent to the value of your crops by enabling you to secure them uninjured by storms!

In England and on the Continent, where art and science, as applied in aid of labor, are in some branches at least far ahead of our own country, the Barometer is to be found in the hands of almost every husbandman. Its convenience and utility are just as well recognized as that of the clock.

Experience shows that wherever the Barometer has has been introduced in this country, it is equally satisfactory. In fact it is a necessity in our proverbially variable climate, for in Wisconsin alone millions of bushels of grain have been lost through the lack of some reliable means of foretelling the weather. Depending as it does upon the well known natural law that no atmospheric change can occur without destroying its equilibrium, thus producing a change in its density and weight, which, by its action upon the sensitive surface of the mercury, is infallibly indicated by the rise or fall of the column, it will at once be seen that when properly constructed, the slightest change in the weather will be preceded by a change in the Barometer.

While to the farmer it is indispensable, oftentimes saving many times its cost in a single day, to the painter, builder, master carpenter, brick-moulder, and all other out-door workmen and mechanics, it is of scarcely less importance; and in short, there is no class in community to whom it would not sooner or later save many times its expense. Schools should not consider their apparatus complete without it.

We claim for this instrument the following merits in preference to all other instruments of the kind:

1st. Its cheapness. Until recently the Barometer has been so difficult of construction and so costly as to place it beyond the reach of all but the wealthy; but this instrument is sold so low as to be within the means of all, being by far the cheapest reliable Barometer extant.

2d. Its portability. A great difficulty in obtaining these instruments heretofore has been that they could not be transported, its extreme delicacy of construction rendering it necessary to be made and adjusted in the place where used; but by a simple arrangement this instrument can be rendered in a moment perfectly portable, so that it can be subject to the roughest usage without injury.

3d. Its durability. No wood or leather is used about the cistern, which is wholly of cast iron, forming the most durable instrument of the kind possible.

4th. It is a Mercurial Cistern Barometer, which is the only form endorsed by the highest scientific authority. The ordinary cheap Barometers and all Aneroid or dial-faced Barometers have been condemned as unreliable by the U. S. Coast Survey, and Smithsonian Institute, Washington.

5th. Its simplicity. While it combines with all the real improvements that have been given to the instrument for two centuries, other and valuable improvements possessed by no other, it is the simplest possible form of Barometer.

6th. It is not affected by the change of temperature as are the Union and other Barometers, (thus rendering it necessary to adjust them every time an observation is taken, and then it is only an approximate one,) but is acted upon solely by the different degrees of density of weight of the air, as affected by various atmospheric phenomena.

7th. Its thorough workmanship and beautiful finish render it at once highly ornamental, accurate and durable, while the addition of a Themometer Index, and Vernier scale upon a brass plate, render it by far the most complete instrument of the kind ever offered to the public.

Premiums have been awarded it by the New York, Michigan and U. S. Agricultural Societies, over all competitors.

Prof. J. C. Holmes, State Agricultural College, Lansing, Mich., says:—"The Barometer you made for me has proved to be an excellent instrument. It is perfectly accurate. I would recommend a trial of one to every farmer."

Says Hon. H. Greeley:—"There is no article so much needed among farmers as a good Barometer. You ought to sell ten thousand of them this present season in the state of New York alone. The fact that times are hard and money scarce, is only additional reason why farmers should purchase them as an article of economy in saving their crops from damage and waste."

The following scientific gentlemen, with many others, have permitted the use of their names as references:

GEO. P. WILLIAMS, LL. D., Prof. Natural Philosophy and Mathematics, University of Michigan; S. H. DOUGLASS, A. M., M. D., Prof. of Chemistry, University of Michigan; E. S. CARR, M. D., Prof. of Natural Science, Wisconsin State University.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

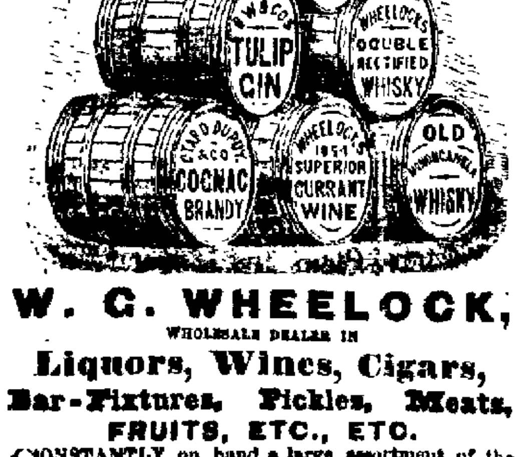

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company;

all well invested for the benefit of Policy holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pay a large proportion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.

By the use of these pills the periodic attacks of Nervous or Sick Headache may be prevented; and if taken at the commencement of an attack immediate relief from pain and sickness will be obtained.

They seldom fail in removing Nausea and Headache to which females are so subject.

They act gently upon the bowels,—removing Costiveness.

For Literary Men, Students, delicate females, and all persons of sedentary habits, they are valuable as a Laxative, improving the appetite, giving tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and restoring the natural elasticity and strength of the whole system.

The CEPHALIC PILLS are the result of long investigation and carefully conducted experiments, having been in use many years, during which time they have prevented and relieved a vast amount of pain and suffering from headache, whether originating in the nervous system or from a deranged state of the stomach.

They are entirely vegetable in their composition, and may be taken at all times with perfect safety without making any change of diet, and the absence of any disagreeable taste renders it easy to administer them to children.

Useful and Economical.

THE MOST USEFUL

MACHINES AND IMPLEMENTS

SUBJECTS OF PATENTS.

"INVENTORS are public benefactors. To be liberal in their protection, is only to be just towards the rights of property, and tends to increase the public wealth and hastens the progress of practical improvements and of science. * * * The settled doctrine of the courts, now, under the light of large experience, is, to incline to constructions most favorable to patents."—Extract from opinion of U. S. Court in a late Patent Case.

Three-fifths of the earth's surface is covered with water. Vast sums of money and the best mechanical and engineering skill has, for ages, been employed to perfect machinery to bring this universal and indispensable element into convenient use.

May's Patents.

Double and Single Acting Pumps.

For any depth of mining shafts and wells, open or drilled, to 500 feet.

No suction pipes, no packing, no bolts, no pumping rods.

Are composed of two metalic cylinders and two brass valves, and wrought-iron conducting pipe.

Are operated by a wrought-iron lever, and by means of a compensating balance device, they work very easy by hand, wind mill or other power, at whatever depth, and work without noise.

They cannot freeze.

Save Repairs, Vexation and Expense!!!

Those longest in use (about 2 years) need no repairs and exhibit no perceptible wear, and possess valuable qualities unknown in any other pumps.

"Blow winds and crack your cheeks! rage! blow!"
—King Lear.

The winds are found to be the Cheapest Motor in existence and highly serviceable for many mechanical purposes, as pumping, sawing, turning, grinding, &c , &c.

WIND ENGINES, OR MILLS,

LATEST IMPROVEMENTS,

May's Patents.

These ENGINES are perfectly self-regulating and under easy control, independent of their self-governing qualities.

They are STRONG and DURABLE.

No pains or expense has been spared to simplify and perfect both pumps and engines to make them UNRIVALLED in quality, and ECONOMICAL in price.

Every article, whether Pump or Engine, WARRANTED.

Call and examine thoroughly before buying.

Orders Filled on Short Notice!!

These Pumps and Engines are secured by Five Patents and Fifteen Claims.

Like most valuable Patents, they are already infringed.

Infringement rigidly prosecuted, unless settled.

From the favorable opinions of Agriculturalists and others using these Engines and Pumps, together and separate, the following are selected:

Pumps, Without Engine.

In a half hour at ordinary pumping speed, I supply my stock of from forty to fifty head of cattle and horses, with one of May's Patent Pumps. Well 70 feet deep, last 30 feet drilled. I can find no fault with this pump, and use it in place of another kind that was very often out of repair. Being composed of few and strong pieces, and built on scientific principles, I think they must be very durable. R. W. SCHENCK.

Bradford, Rock county, Wis., January 29th, 1861.

I supply with water 690 sheep, some 60 head of cattle and 10 head of horses, with May's Patent Pump. Its great strength, apparent durability and above all the great amount of water it raises in a short time, and its easy working, gives it with me a decided preference over any other pump in the market.

C. M. CLARK.

Whitewater, Walworth Co., Wis., Jan. 31st, 1861.

Since the 1st of October last we have been using one of May's Patent Pumps, and it gives us entire satisfaction. Our well is 126 feet deep and the pump is worked by horse power or by hand. In addition to pumping water for stock and farm purposes, we use large quantities for our Brewery. REEVES & WADDLE.

Middleton, Dane county, Wis., Jan. 22d, 1861.

I am using one of May's Patent Pumps in place of a deep well pump of another kind, that was often out of order and worked hard. Well 122 feet deep, 72 feet drilled in solid rock, and pump placed 101 feet from surface. Its great strength and simplicity pleases me, and am surprised and gratified with the large amount of water raised with little labor, 6 to 8 full strokes of the lever filling a bucket. I deem it one of the most valuable improvements of the age for raising water.

JOHN TRACY.

Center, Rock county, Wis., Feb. 27th, 1861.

Pumps, With Engines.

I am using one of May's Patent Pumps and Self-Regulating Wind Engine (or Mill) on one of my farms near Janesville. Well 83 feet deep. Pump and mill used together, or may be separated in a moment. One to two hours daily is sufficient to pump water for my stock. Also, the pump works very easy by hand and is the first one, after trying different kinds, that gives me entire satisfaction. Having no bolts, packing, suction pipe, or pumping rods, and being made heavy and strong, think they must be very durable. A. HOSKINS.

Janesville, Jan. 11th, 1861.

I am using a wind engine, and pump of May's patent in a well 65 feet deep. I deem them very valuable improvements, and agree with Mr. Hoskins in the above expressed opinion. I had been using a Seneca Falls pump that did not answer my purpose.

WM. SCHENCK.

Bradford, Rock Co., Wis., Jan. 24th, 1861.

Engines.

Rock Terrace, Wis., Feb. 6th, 1861.

Since November 1858, I have been using one of May's Patent Wind Engines, pumping water from a well 186 feet deep. The Engine is a powerful one, often pumping fifty barrels of water per day. It stands 110 feet from the well and the power is communicated from the Engine to the well, underground.

I deem these Engines of great value, saving a vast amount of hard manual labor, and as their merits are understood, think they must come into general use.

J. V. ROBBINS.

These pumps and engines have taken first premiums when exhibited in competition at state and county fairs.

Write for price lists &c., and if estimates are wanted give depth of well—open or drilled, and amount of water required. Address as above.

Also for sale, the Patents in the unsold territory for Badger's Portable Grist Mill, Gilmore & May's Rock Drill, Stone Dressing Machine and Quartz Rock Crusher, and Nash & Cutts' Grain Separator. All Patents, are meritorious and sell freely. Address,

J. M. MAY, Agent, &c., as above.

DWELLINGS AND CONTENTS.

The solid service long and successfully tried, and the many advantages the Ætna Insurance Company possess in its line, should not be overlooked by those ready to insure and understanding their bests interests.

During "stringent times" the necessity for reliable Insurance becomes an imperative duty—the ability of property holders to sustain loss being then much lessened.

Agencies in all the principal cities and towns throughout the state. Policies issued without delay, by any of the duly authorised agents of the company.

Business attended to with despatch and fidelity.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company;

all well invested for the benefit of Policy holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pay a large proportion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.

By the use of these pills the periodic attacks of Nervous or Sick Headache may be prevented; and if taken at the commencement of an attack immediate relief from pain and sickness will be obtained.

They seldom fail in removing Nausea and Headache to which females are so subject.

They act gently upon the bowels,—removing Costiveness.

For Literary Men, Students, delicate females, and all persons of sedentary habits, they are valuable as a Laxative, improving the appetite, giving tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and restoring the natural elasticity and strength of the whole system.

The CEPHALIC PILLS are the result of long investigation and carefully conducted experiments, having been in use many years, during which time they have prevented and relieved a vast amount of pain and suffering from headache, whether originating in the nervous system or from a deranged state of the stomach.

They are entirely vegetable in their composition, and may be taken at all times with perfect safety without making any change of diet, and the absence of any disagreeable taste renders it easy to administer them to children.

Useful and Economical.

THE MOST USEFUL

SUBJECTS OF PATENTS.

"INVENTORS are public benefactors. To be liberal in their protection, is only to be just towards the rights of property, and tends to increase the public wealth and hastens the progress of practical improvements and of science. * * * The settled doctrine of the courts, now, under the light of large experience, is, to incline to constructions most favorable to patents."—Extract from opinion of U. S. Court in a late Patent Case.

Three-fifths of the earth's surface is covered with water. Vast sums of money and the best mechanical and engineering skill has, for ages, been employed to perfect machinery to bring this universal and indispensable element into convenient use.

May's Patents.

Double and Single Acting Pumps.

For any depth of mining shafts and wells, open or drilled, to 500 feet.

No suction pipes, no packing, no bolts, no pumping rods,

Are composed of two metalic cylinders and two brass valves, and wrought-iron conducting pipe.

Are operated by a wrought-iron lever, and by means of a compensating balance device, they work very easy by hand, wind mill or other power, at whatever depth, and work without noise.

They cannot freeze.

Save Repairs, Vexation and Expense!!!

Those longest in use (about 2 years) need no repairs and exhibit no perceptible wear, and possess valuable qualities unknown in any other pumps.

"Blow winds and crack your cheeks! rage! blow!"
—King Lear.

The winds are found to be the Cheapest Motor in existence and highly serviceable for many mechanical purposes, as pumping, sawing, turning, grinding, &c., &c.

WIND ENGINES, OR MILLS,

LATEST IMPROVEMENTS,

May's Patents.

These ENGINES are perfectly self-regulating and under easy control, independent of their self-governing qualities.

They are STRONG and DURABLE.

No pains or expense has been spaired to simplify and perfect both pumps and engines to make them UNRIVALLED in quality, and ECONOMICAL in price.

Every article, whether Pump or Engine, WARRANTED.

Call and examine thoroughly before buying.

Address as above.

From the favorable opinions of Agriculturalists and others using these Engines and Pumps, together and separate, the following are selected:

Pumps, Without Engine,

In a half hour at ordinary pumping speed, I supply my stock of from forty to fifty head of cattle and horses, with one of May's Patent Pumps. Well 70 feet deep, last 30 feet drilled. I can find no fault with this pump, and use it in place of another kind that was very often out of repair. Being composed of few and strong pieces, and built on scientific principles, I think they must be very durable. R. W. SCHENCK.

Bradford, Rock county, Wis., January 29th, 1861.

I supply with water 690 sheep, some 60 head of cattle and 10 head of horses, with May's Patent Pump. Its great strength, apparent durability and above all the great amount of water it raises in a short time, and its easy working, gives it with me a decided preference over any other pump in the market.
C. M. CLARK.

Whitewater, Walworth Co., Wis., Jan. 31st, 1861.

Since the 1st of October last we have been using one of May's Patent Pumps, and it gives us entire satisfaction. Our well is 120 feet deep and the pump is worked by horse power or by hand. In addition to pumping water for stock and farm purposes, we use large quantities for our Brewery. REEVES & WADDLE.

Middleton, Dane county, Wis., Jan. 22d, 1861.

I am using one of May's Patent Pumps in place of a deep well pump of another kind, that was often out of order and worked hard. Well 122 feet deep, 72 feet drilled in solid rock, and pump placed 101 feet from surface. Its great strength and simplicity pleases me, and am surprised and gratified with the large amount of water raised with little labor, 6 to 8 full strokes of the lever filling a bucket. I deem it one of the most valuable improvements of the age for raising water.
JOHN TRACY.

Center, Rock county, Wis., Feb. 27th, 1861.

Pumps, With Engines.

I am using one of May's Patent Pumps and Self-Regulating Wind Engine (or Mill) on one of my farms near Janesville. Well 83 feet deep. Pump and mill used together, or may be separated in a moment. One to two hours daily is sufficient to pump water for my stock. Also, the pump works very easy by hand and is the first one, after trying different kinds, that gives me entire satisfaction. Having no bolts, packing, suction pipe, or pumping rods, and being made heavy and strong, think they must be very durable. A. HOSKINS.

Janesville, Jan. 11th, 1861.

I am using a wind engine, and pump of May's patent in a well 65 feet deep. I deem them very valuable improvements, and agree with Mr. Hoskins in the above expressed opinion. I had been using a Seneca Falls pump that did not answer my purpose.
WM. SCHENCK.

Bradford, Rock Co., Wis., Jan. 24th, 1861.

Engines.

Rock Terrace, Wis., Feb. 6th, 1861.

Since November 1858, I have been using one of May's Patent Wind Engines, pumping water from a well 186 feet deep. The Engine is a powerful one, often pumping fifty barrels of water per day. It stands 110 feet from the well and the power is communicated from the Engine to the well, underground.

I deem these Engines of great value, saving a vast amount of hard manual labor, and as their merits are understood, think they must come into general use.
J. V. ROBBINS.

These pumps and engines have taken first premiums when exhibited in competition at state and county fairs.

Write for price lists &c., and if estimates are wanted give depth of well—open or drilled, and amount of water required. Address as above.

Also for sale, the Patents in the unsold territory for Badger's Portable Grist Mill, Gilmore & May's Rock Drill, Stone Dressing Machine and Quartz Rock Crusher, and Nash & Cutts' Grain Separator. All late Patents, are meritorious and sell freely. Address,
J. M. MAY, Agent, &c., as above.

AN ORDINANCE to restrict the owners or drivers of horses attached to vehicles from leaving the same unsecured.

The Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville do ordain as follows:

SEC. 1. It shall not be lawful for any owner or driver, or any person in charge of any vehicle whatsoever to leave his horse or horses attached thereto, in any of the streets of this city, without first securing such horse or horses by means of a sufficient halter, rope or chain, or without some suitable person to take the charge or guidance of them so as to prevent their running.

SEC. 2. If any such person shall violate the provisions of the preceeding section, he and his employer or employers, jointly and severally, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding twenty dollars.

SEC. 3. It is hereby made the duty of each and every constable to inforce this ordinance.

SEC. 4. All horses so found running at large may be taken by said constable and held as contraband of war.

THE MISSOURI DEMOCRAT.

PROSPECTUS FOR 1861.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS OFFERED FOR Getting up Clubs.

Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly!

THE Democrat will continue to be a faithful advocate and supporter of the principles of the republican party. Its energies will be especially devoted to the west—to the advocacy of western interests and the assertion of western rights. The administration of Abraham Lincoln shall receive its cordial and unfaltering support. The great measures of a Pacific railroad on the central route; free lands for the landless; the improvement of river navigation; retrenchment and reform in all the departments of the federal government, will be urged with that zeal and devotion which have won for the Democrat its present position. On all questions it will boldly espouse the right, and only seek its advancement through the public good.

ITS NEWS, LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS DEPARTMENTS, shall be all that readers could desire. The Political, Agricultural and Manufacturing interests of the country shall receive due attention.

THE COMMERCIAL CHARACTER of the Democrat is well established. This important interest is under the management of one thoroughly familiar with commercial affairs, and we pledge our honor that its figures shall always be the true index of trade here, while it furnishes daily more commercial news than any other paper in Missouri.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION IS DIRECTED TO OUR GREAT DOLLAR WEEKLY!

The largest paper in the country for the price of one dollar.

THE TRI-WEEKLY DEMOCRAT,

at $4,00 per annum, is the most complete paper of its kind in the west. It is especially valuable to River and Railroad Merchants. It contains the complete Commercial, River and Telegraph news of each Daily issue, besides all the interesting news matter and editorial of the Daily.

TERMS STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Daily, one year,	$8,00
Tri-Weekly, one year,	4,00
Weekly, one year,	1,00

To CLUBS.—Tri-Weekly: Five copies for $18; ten copies for $35; twenty copies and one to getter up of club for $70.

Weekly: Ten copies and one to getter up of club, $10; thirty copies and one Tri-Weekly, $30; fifty copies and one Daily, $50.

It is not required that all of a club shall be sent to one post office; the number may be sent to different offices, and the subscriptions may commence at any time.

Now is time to subscribe.

Papers will be continued ONE WEEK ONLY after expiration of subscription.

Clippings from Jonathan.

A favorite Southern movement—Fire and fall back.

Shakspeare's advice to Young America—"List, list, oh! list!"

History of Secession in six easy lessons—Defalcation, Depredation, Repudiation, Assassination, Trepidation, Extermination.

Infant Prodigy—"Pa, when they plant cannon, what do they expect them to produce?"

Facetious Parent—"Grape shoots, my dear."

Why is the crack of a rifle like news of a pacific character? Because it is the report of a piece.

Unpopular with the Secessionists—The Monroe doctrine as propounded by Butler.

A distinction with a difference—The North is full of bullion, the South of full of bullying.

Why is a confidential whisper like a letter of marque? Because it is intended for a private-car.

Southern receipt for squaring accounts with the North—Draw on your creditors at sight—with a rifle.

The latest style of hoop—The war whoop?

How we train our volunteers—First we get them mustered and then send them to the wars to be peppered.

Exchange of colors—While Gen. Butler is getting the blacks, the slaveholders are getting the blues.

The southern insignia "C. S. A." Can't stand artillery.

COERCION.—A case of coercion, in the fullest sense of the term, occured a few days since in the back parlor of a bank which lately closed its doors. A mechanic, who had deposited some five hundred dollars of well-earned money in the bank, went to draw it out. He was informed that he could be paid in the same money which he deposited, which was as much as to say that he could have broken-down Illinois money, worth from fifty cents to nothing, for the bankable funds which he had put into the bank. He walked into the private office and confronted the manager, who gave him the same satisfaction which he obtained of the clerks—currency or nothing. Without a word he commenced pulling off his coat. He was a hard-fisted, stalwart man, and the banker looked at him in dismay. "What are you going to do?" he asked. "I am going to take that five hundred dollars out of you," was the answer. "Do you dare sir!" cried the enraged president. "I'll call in the police." "Call them in if you choose. I'll have you well thrashed before they get here. If you have a whole bone in your skin in two minutes you'll be a lucky man."

It is needless to say that the position was a poser. A movement would have been the signal for a trip-hammer blow, and the only alternative was the five hundred dollars. The amount was forthcoming without another word, and the coercionist departed with a pocket full of hard gold.—Chicago Journal.

[Translated from the Courier de Tarn-et-Garonne, June 22d.

QUEEN VICTORIA.—From the ambiguous language of the London journals, it is impossible to judge of the exact value of the reports in circulation relative to Queen Victoria.

Is it, in fact, only a physical difficulty which has superinduced, in Her Majesty's case, a degree of melancholy that nothing, even the delightful intercourse with her family, can overcome? Has the death of the Duchess of Kent revived in the granddaughter of George the Third a train of thought which has more than once engaged her attention since she came to the throne of Great Britain?

To speak more clearly, is it true, as some alarmed Presbyterians already murmur, that the Queen is not very far from being converted to the Catholic faith?

Our neighbors on the other side of the channel urge these questions with so much persistence that we may ourselves refer to the subject without being accused of any act of impropriety.

The fact itself, independent of its mere dogmatic value, is vastly important politically; since the British constitution imposes upon the Sovereign the protestant faith, and the conversion of Queen Victoria would be equivalent to an abdication of the crown.

Blondin has cast his line in Liverpool, and it is part of his plan of operations there that he shall wheel a lion, "Tom Sayers," along the rope in a barrow to be fitted for the purpose. A Paris letter in the Independent says:

"The famous M. Blondin has proposed to the French authorities to cross the Seine upon a rope stretched between the Palace of the Tuilleries and barracks of the Quai d'Orsay. This will be a gratuitous sight to the population of Paris and will take place on the 15th of August. A considerable sum, however, of the amount set apart for the fete will be given to the audacious acrobat."

THE LARGEST FORTRESS IN THE WORLD.—Eighteen miles from Warsaw stands the largest fortress in the world—a fortress with casemated and boomproof barracks for 40,000 men, and with a circumference of 11 miles. Whether this fact is generally known or not, it is certain that very few Englishmen—very few persons of any country but Russia—have been allowed the opportunity of inspecting this wondrous stronghold. Nor, I believe, is our government at present in possession of any plan or sketch of the immense works; and as evidence of the jealousy with which it is hidden from the eyes of strangers, I may mention that special permission from the Czar is requisite to enable any foreigner to enter it. The fortress is called Modlin, or the New Georgian; in Russian, Novo-Giorgiewick.

The Appleton Crescent says that a number of school boys, in the town of Ellington, Outagamie county, had procured a flag and raised it with proper ceremonies over a school house there; and the next day three individuals riddled it with bullets in the absence of the scholars. The Crescent continues:

An outrage of this nature, especially in these traitorous times, should meet with the punishment commensurate with the act. It makes us blush to have to record this rascality of our own county. But we are proud to say such scoundrels are scarce among us.

TESTIMONIAL.

To Whom it May Concern:

I AM now over 60 years of age. Three years since I became blind from Cataract in both eyes. Soon after I became blind an attempt to restore my sight by an operation was made in this city, which was unsuccessful. Hearing of the reputation of Dr. Folsom, as a skillful oculist, I was induced to consult him, though with very little hopes of relief. The doctor proposed an operation, to which I consented, which resulted in almost Perfect Restoration of Sight to one eye. He afterwards performed an operation on the other eye with success. I am now enjoying the inestimable blessing of good vision, and a much better general state of health than before. THOS. VAUGHN.

Great Battle at Bull's Run.

[Special Despatches to the Daily Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE, July 22.

Big fight at Bull's Run. Our loss estimated variously from 300 to 3000. Rebels much larger.

The rebels contested the ground inch by inch, but the Federal troops won the battle.

More particulars will be forwarded as soon as received. W.

SECOND DISPATCH.

MILWAUKEE, July 22.

Three Batteries taken at Bull's Run.—Brilliant victory.

Terrible Disaster to our Army.

We have no heart to comment upon the news to day. Our army has suffered a defeat, and Washington is in danger. The cause of this reverse is not clear, as the troops had fought bravely up to 7 o'clock last night, and had continued success up to that time. A sudden panic then seized them, and the victory which was almost within their grasp, was turned to a defeat and a disastrous rout. It is unaccountable, and will bring sorrow and shame upon the whole north. Out of it, however, will grow a fiercer determination on the part of the friends of the Union to strike once more for the honor of the country.

The news to-day may be very much modified by the details to-morrow. The disaster may be magnified by the excited state of the public mind at Washington, and although the reverse is indeed a sad one, it may not be as deplorable as has been represented.

Correspondence of the Daily Gazette.

WASHINGTON, July 16th, 1861.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—To-day has been a general day of marching. Over twenty thousand troops have crossed the river into Virginia, besides nearly all of the marines stationed at this post. Just enough are left here to guard the garrison.

Gen. Patterson has now over fifty thousand troops under his command.

Twelve thousand troops crossed the river yesterday; they are not quite as thick about the streets here as usual, but they all seemed very anxious to go to the field, and we have the most implicit confidence that they will flog the rebels severely. Our volunteers have been encamped here so long that they have become very well disciplined in their drill. I have seen twenty-three thousand men marching in solid column at review.

There are a great many secession sympathisers in and about Washington, altho' they have to keep mum.

From my window I can see the tents on and about Arlington Heights; they seem to be as thick as they can conveniently, and make a splendid scene. I suppose that to-morrow morning will make a great change in their appearance, as our troops will do nearly all of their marching in the night time. The weather is pretty cool and has been for several days, which is very favorable to our troops in the field. I think if Jeff. Davis had known the number of soldier-men in the north he would tried and let out the job that he has undertaken to do himself.

Washington is very full of strangers; I don't know which are the thickest the soldiers or the office seekers. Before congress convened, the hotels had nothing to do and were about closing, but now one can hardly find any place to stay over night. These hotels are crowded, not by soldiers but by patriotic people, who are interested in the welfare of their country; at least they are extremely anxious to see that all the civil as well as the military places are properly supplied. Some of the disappointed ones seem to take it very philosophically. I have not heard any of them threaten to secede from the Union yet.

I hear from our 2d Wisconsin regiment very often. They are in fine spirits and compare favorably with other regiments here in discipline, and I think are superior in many other respects. They are very highly spoken of by people here.

WILLIAM H. PARKER.

On the night after my arrival, in passing from one quarter to another, I was stopped by a sentinel, whom I recognized as private P——, though he did not recognize me. I was asked for the countersign, and replied, "A friend with a bottle." The reply was, "Advance bottle and draw stopper," which I did, and was suffered to pass on my way rejoicing.

Willie, a bright little eight year old, in Troy, N. Y., never neglects daily prayer. The other day, in the presence of the family, he prayed for the country as follows:—"Oh Lord, there was never so good a country as ours until the civil war broke out; now it is very bad. The rebels are very wicked; turn their hearts to thee, on Lord. They have done many bad things; they took Sumter, but, oh God, they can't take Pickens!"

BY TELEGRAPH.

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.

Last Night's Report.

NEW YORK, July 20.

The brig Costa Rica has arrived from Aspinwal. She spoke the brig Cuba off Cape Antonio, which reported she had been a prize to the privateer Sumter, but had got away, and had disarmed the rebel crew and put them in irons. Two of them were put on board the Costa Rica and brought up to this port. The privateersmen say they were obliged to ship or starve, and that a number of the Sumter's men are northerners, and will escape the first opportunity that is offered them. The officers are desperate and will blow up the vessel, rather than be captured. Two men and a midshipman of the prize crew remained aboard the Cuba.

NEW YORK, July 20.

A Washington special despatch says it is rumored that Bull's Run is taken, but it is doubtless false. The force of the rebels at Bull's Run, is estimated at 20,000. Fourteen of our wounded died, and fifty more are lying in a stone church at Centerville.

Secretary Cameron has gone down to the seat of war, but is expected to return to-night.

WASHINGTON, July 20.

We have intelligence from Bull's Run up to 7 o'clock last evening, and Fairfax to six o'clock this morning. The fighting has not been renewed except by pickets guard, who are very near.

The two armies are only a mile apart, this being our ground of battle, yesterday and last night, and the enemy within their entrenchments on the other side of Bull's Run.

Gen. Tyler made a general reconnoisance yesterday, but made no discoveries worth noticing.

Night before last five federal troops of a N. Y. regiment, near Fairfax Court House, captured eleven secessionists.

Last night eleven more prisoners were taken by some of the 11th Massachusetts Regiment, also a mail bag containing letters.

The largest house in Centerville has been burned down. The neighbors say it was set on fire by the owner himself.

WASHINGTON, July 20.

Special to the Post.—Gen. Patterson is to be superceded by Gen. Banks, under orders from headquarters. Gen. Banks is transferred from the the war department of Annapolis to that of North Eastern Virginia, and is to be succeeded in the command at Baltimore, by Gen. John A. Dix.

A steamer arrived from Fortress Monroe bringing intelligence that there are no rebels at Acquia Creek or Mathias Point.—They have all gone to Manassas to defend that place if possible.

SENATE.—Mr. Wade offered a resolution that the naval committee be empowered to inquire into the surrender of the navy yards at Pensacola and Norfolk, with power to send for persons and papers. Referred to the committee on naval affairs.

Mr. Johnson of Tennessee introduced a bill to provide for the transportation of arms and munitions of war to loyal citizens in the states now in rebellion, and to provide for organizing them into regiments, &c. He said that the loyal citizens in those states felt that the government was bound to protect them against invasion. Referred to the committee on military affairs.

Mr. Trumbull introduced a bill to provide for holding of circuit district courts during the temporary insurrection. Referred to the committee on judiciary.

The bill providing for the construction of one or more iron clad war vessels, was laid over.

The resolution approving of acts of the president, was taken up.

Mr. Latham spoke and alluded to his friends Breckinridge, Bayard, and others, who charged the President with violating the constitution, but not a word in condemnation of those who openly trampled the constitution under foot.

He said whatever necessity required the President to enforce the law and government was right and proper, even though he might have committed an infraction of authority delegated to him, but he would not sanction the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus in Maryland, because he thought that state showed he allegiance by sending members to congress, and that there was no necessity for such a suspension there, except it was evident that the judiciary of the state was disloyal. No man doubts the loyalty of the chief justice. He thought an increase of the army not warranted by the exigencies of the case, and therefore could not sanction it, but in regard to blockade of ports, a suspension of the writ of habeas corpus in Florida, and all other acts enumerated in the resolutions he gave his most cordial support, and would say here as the representative of a sovereign state of loyal people, if the Pres't had not exercised these powers he would have voted to have him impeached as unfit and unworthy of his place.

Mr. Latham closed with an eloquent declaration, that whatever happens his own state will stand firm by the Union.

Mr. Rice said he wished to endorse all that had been said by his friend from California.

On motion of Mr. Johnson of Tennessee the subject was postponed till Monday.

Executive session adjourned.

Special Dispatch to the Chicago Times.

WASHINGTON, July 21—11 P. M.

The rebels have been driven to Manassas Junction, their ordnance, camp equipage, and army stores fallng into possession of our forces.

The federal force gave them hot pursuit, marking their line of retreat with bodies of the slain.

The pursuit was most admirably conducted, and will be looked upon hereafter as a great military movement, reflecting the utmost credit upon those conducting, as well as those engaged in it.

It is impossible to give the number lost and wounded on either side. Both armies have suffered immensely, the loss to the rebels being undoubtedly vastly greater than that of the Union troops.

The division under Colonel Heintzelman (the third), which has been operating on the left of the line, was brought up to the vicinity of Centreville this morning, with a view of having it in readiness to aid in the battle of Bull's Run, if necessary. This has necessarily changed the general plan of the attack, and the flank movement, to effect which this line was designed, will not be attempted.

At this writing cannonading is distinctly heard from the direction of Manassas, and dispatches from Fairfax state that our artillery is shelling the left of the rebel entrenchments at that place.

The report that Gen. Johnston has effected a junction with Beauregard at Manassas is considered here as a canard.

A general engagement, embodying the entire force of both armies, is looked for at Manassas to-morrow.

ST. LOUIS, July 21.

Eighty-five persons, expelled from Texas county by the secessionists, have arrived in this city.

Col. Mulligan's Irish regiment, from Chicago, left the arsenal to-day, and departed from the city by the Pacific railroad. They were all in good health and spirits.

WASHINGTON, July 21.

The firing at Bull's Run could be distinctly heard at the Chain Bridge from a very early hour this morning.

The possession of Bull's Run cuts off the enemy from their only source of water, and if it can be held gives us the victory at Manassas.

The enemy is believed to have no notion of our strength.

The latest dispatches affirm that General McDowell's is victorious at all points, and is pressing, it is believed, on the Junction. Both armies have suffered greatly.

Gen. Lyon has telegraphed for reinforcements. The rebel forces in Missouri are increasing.

Breckinridge was among the most anxious inquirers for news from Bull's Run today. Had it been unfavorable, what would have been his course?

Gen. McClellan telegraphs that with three good Colonels of regiments more he could make a clean sweep of the rebels from Western Virginia.

Private letters from Minister Cassius M. Clay say that the feeling in Russia is strongly in sympathy with the Union.

An army order just issued honorably discharges General Patterson on the 27th inst. when his term of service expired. It orders Gen. Banks to assume his command, and Gen. Dix to relieve Gen. Banks at Baltimore immediately. The latter department is henceforth to be known as the Department of Maryland, and the former as the Department of the Shenandoah. Brigadier Generals Cox and Schlosser are honorably discharged on the 30th inst., Bates, August 27th, and Morris July 27th, when their respective terms of service expire.

Another order warns mustering officers against the borrowing of soldiers from one regiment to swell the ranks of another, and prohibits the mustering in of any volunteers who cannot speak English. It empowers Governors of States to fill any vacancies of commissioned officers of their several regiments, and strikes from the rolls Brevet Second Lieutenants Parker, Derrick and Reynolds, of the West Point class just graduated, for having tendered their resignations in the face of the enemy.

Three New York regiments have marched towards Bull's Run. Four others have gone to take the places of four Pennsylvania regiments whose term of service has expired.

Dispatches from Commodore Stringham inform the Navy Department that he has picked up nine slaves at the mouth of the Rappahannock River, who had escaped in a row-boat. They say that the rebels are forcing all the negroes in Middlesex and Essex into regiments, and that the only Union man in their vicinity has been murdered.

Commodore Prendergast discovered a rebel battery near Hatters Inlet, and exchanged a few shots with it.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, July 21.

Special to Herald.—Official despatches say we have taken three batteries in the form of a crescent, numbering 19 guns.

It is known that Manassas Junction is supplied with water by a canal from Bull's Run. This will now be cut off, leaving the rebels without water for their cavalry. That a most brilliant victory has been achieved by our gallant troops, there is no doubt.

High praise is bestowed on the Fire Zouaves and the 69th.

It is reported the former met the Louisiana Zouaves, routed them and captured their colors.

LATER.

Gen. McDowell telegraphs that the enemy is completely routed from Bull's Run, retreating toward Manassas Junction, leaving their batteries in the possession of the Union forces.

The fighting commenced at 3 o'clock this morning and continued most desperately until 2 o'clock this afternoon. The rebels were driven back inch by inch, leaving their dead upon the field. Loss of life on both sides was frightful.

Our troops behaved most gallantly, and their guns were very effective. The whole force on both sides is said to have been engaged, Gen. Johnston having joined the rebels, as previously stated—making Gen. Beauregard's force about 70,000. It is supposed the rebels will suffer greatly at Manassas for want of water.

Herald's correspondence says—When I left the field of battle, I saw rebels flying in vast numbers. Greatest enthusiasm thro' out our ranks.

Jeff Davis is understood to be at Manassas Junction.

Col. Cowdens 1st Massachusetts regiment was fired on several times by rebel pickets as they stepped in road on their arms.

WASHINGTON, July 21—Midnight.

Times' correspondence.—The battle has been one of the severest ever fought on this continent. Up to 2 o'clock our troops had driven the enemy a distance of nearly two miles. As the enemy fell back from one position thus only to another equally as strong and at every point fresh reinforcements were poured in almost without limit as to number. There can be no doubt that their force was at least double ours.

The Fire Zouaves were terribly cut up while drawn up to make an attack. They were assailed by a concealed battery with a strong support on their flank, and were forced to break. It is said both Col. Farnham and Lieut. Col. Cruger are killed, but it may not prove true. The latter at all events was severely wounded. Col. Hunter wounded in the throat. Col. Slocum of the 2d Rhode Island and Capt. Lewis of the 1st, reported killed. Gov. Sprague had a horse shot under him. Major Ballou of the R. I. regiment was severely wounded in the hand and thigh by a cannon ball.

Signed, H. J. RAYMOND.

Times' Washington despatch of Sunday before fight says our troops Saturday night numbered 45,000 and Patterson's column is reported moving down the Winchester road with 15,000 men and is expected to join today.

Eleven thousand troops left Alexandria this morning so that by to-night we shall have a superior force there, although this morning we stood 45,000 against 60,000.

WASHINGTON, July 21–5:30 P. M.

Official despotches now before the President, Scott and Mansfield corroborates previous accounts. Say every battery of the enemy was taken, including their guns &c. Fight only ceased when the enemy retired to their Manassas lines.

World's Despatch.—Enemy attempted with an immense force to turn our right flank, which came near being successful, when our large seige gun, a 32-pounder, opened fire causing tremendous havoc on the enemy and routing them.

Members of the house and senators, who came in as civilians vary in their estimates of the killed from 300 to 3000, Facts cannot yet be ascertained.

NEW YORK, July 21.

Arrived schooner S. J. Warring, captured by privateer Jeff. Davis on the night of the 16th, when 50 miles south of Charlestown. Steward, Wm. Talman, colored, killed 3 of prize crew with a hatchet, and the other 2 were released on promising to assist in working the vessel.

BALTIMORE, July 21.

Gen. Dix arrived here to-day, and will to-morrow supercede Gen. Banks who will supercede Gen. Patterson.

The Bridge across the Potomac at Harper's Ferry will be up to-morrow, making connection with the Winchester road to Charleston.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

Repulse of the Federal Troops.

WASHINGTON, July 22, via. Philadelphia.

Our troops, after taking three batteries, and making a great victory, were eventually repulsed, and commenced a retreat on Washington. The retreat was in good order, with rear well covered by a good column. Our loss 2,500 to 3,000. The fortifications around Washington are strongly reinforced by federal troops.

WASHINGTON, July 22.

After the latest information received from Centerville at 7:30 last night, a series of events took place in the intensest degree disastrous. Many confused statements are prevalent. Enough is known to warrant the statement that we have suffered in a degree which has cast a gloom over the remainder of our army, and excited the deepest melancholy throughout Washington.

The carnage was tremendously heavy on both sides, and on ours is represented as frighiful. We were advancing and taking their masked batteries gradually but surely, and driving the enemy towards Manassas Junction, when the enemy seemed to have been reinforced by Gen. Johnston, who, it is understood, took command and immediately commenced driving us back, when a panic among our troops suddenly occurred and a regular stampede took place.

It is thought that Gen. McDowell undertook to make a stand at or about Centerville, but the panic was so fearful that the whole army became demoralized, and it was impossible to check them either at Centerville or Fairfax Court House. Gen. McDowell intended to make a stand at Fairfax Court House, but our forces being in full retreat, could not accomplish the object. Beyond Fairfax Court House the retreat was kept up until they reached their regular encampments, a portion of whom returned to them, but a still larger portion coming inside the encampments. A large number of troops in their retreat fell from exhaustion on the way, and were scattered along the route on the way from Fairfax Court House.

According to statement of two of the Fire Zouaves they have only about 200 men left from the slaughter, while the 69th and other regiments frightfully suffered in killed and wounded. The number cannot now be know.

Sherman's, Carlisle's and the West Point batteries were taken by the enemy, and the eight seige (32-pounders) rifled cannon.

The road from Bull's Run was strewed with knapsacks and arms of our troops, deliberately throwing away their guns and apurtenances, the latter to facilitate travel.

McDowell was in the rear of the retreat endeavoring to rally his men but only with partial effect.

Latter part of the army said to make retreat in order. His orders on the field did not at all times reach those for whom they were intended. It is supposed the force against our troops consisted, according to a previous statement, of about 30,000 men including a large number of cavalry.

It is supposed that all the provision train belonging to the U. S. is saved.

Large droves of cattle were saved by being driven back.

It is supposed here to-day that General Mansfield will take command of the fortifications on the other side of the river which are able, it is said by military engineers to held them against any force the enemy can bring against them.

Large rifled cannon and mortars are being rapidly sent over and mounted.

An officer just from Virginia, 10:30, reports that the road from Centerville to the Potomac is strewn with stragglers. Troops are resuming the occupation of fortifications and entrenchments on the line of the Potomac.

Col. Heintzleman was wounded in the wrist.

In addition to those reported yesterday, it is said that Col. Wilcox, the gallant commander of the 2d brigade, 2d division, was killed.

Capt. McCook, a brother of Col. McCook of Ohio, is also reported killed. The city this forenoon is in most intense excitement. Wagons are constantly arriving, bringing the dead and wounded. The feeling is awfully distressing. Both telegraphic and steamboat communication with Alexandria is suspended to-day to the public.

Greatest alarm prevails in the city. The following is the account of the beginning of the panic which resulted so disastrously to our troops: All our military operations went swimingly and Col. Alexander was about erecting a pontoon bridge across Bull's Run, when a terrific consternation broke out among the teamsters who had incautiously advanced immediately after a body of the army, and lined the Warrington road. Their consternation was shared in by numerous civilians who were on the ground.

The whole army was in retreat for a time, and a perfect panic prevailed, which communicated itself to the vicinity of Centerville and every available conveyance was seized upon. Several similar alarms on previous occasions were caused by a change of the position of our batteries, and it was most probable that the alarm was owing to the same fact.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 20.

By special messenger, just arrived, we learn the following: At 20 minutes past 2, on the 18th inst., Major Van Horn's command of U. S. reserve Home Guards of this place, numbering 170 men, was attacked by 500 rebels under Capt. Duncan, three miles north of Harrisonville. The fight lasted 4 hours, during which time a continual firing was kept up on both sides.

At 20 minutes past 6 the rebels withdrew, leaving the United States troops victorious. The loss of the rebels was 14 killed, including two officers, and several were wounded; while the loss of the federal forces was only one killed.

At 12 o'clock the same command of U. S. troops continued their march, crossing Grand River twice, but were compelled to leave three of their baggage wagons on the bank of the river, in consequence of high water.

Major Van Horn left this place on the morning of the 17th, for the purpose of reinforcing Major Dean, now holding West Point, Mo., with a small force, having routed a hundred of the rebels at that place.

Major Van Horn's command was attacked while at dinner. They planted their flag-staff at 2 o'clock, never giving way an inch, nor removing the flag until after the rebels withdrew. The enemy attempted to flank them on the left, with a company of cavalry, but were completely routed by a detailed force of 25 men under Capt. Baugher.

The Markets.

NEW YORK, July 22.

Flour market without important change. Wheat market more active, but without important change.

THE WHEAT CROP IN ENGLAND.—The London Economist, received by the Canada, speaking of the crops, remarks:

Of the wheat crop we cannot give a very good account. The plant is generally thin, and let the yield from the straw be as large as possible, the crop can scarcely be a full one. The growth of the wheat plant has, however, been very favorable; the color is remarkably good, while the late rains will give it a decided impulse. The breadth sown is comparatively small, and a good deal sown was sown on land in a foul state.

A Hannibal and St. Joseph railroad correspondent writes to the St. Louis Democrat, on the 16th, that the rebels have destroyed $100,000 worth of property on the road. The rebels wont fight openly, but seem to want to destroy all the property they can, and shoot down unprotected Union men. Cavalry are much needed to hunt them out and chase them to their holes.

More of the Badgers in Buffalo—The Fourth Wisconsin Regiment.

Notwithstanding the announcement of its intention to proceed to Elmira, via the Erie Railroad from Dunkirk, the Fourth Wisconsin Regiment arrived in Buffalo about six o'clock yesterday morning, and remained here till 10 A. M., when it took passage upon a train on the Buffalo, New York & Erie Railroad. The change in the programme of the journey was not made until the arrival of the Regiment at Dunkirk, when it was ascertained that the Erie Railroad Company was unprovided at that point with sufficient acceptable cars for its accommodation.

About three o'clock A. M., a dispatch came from Barr, announcing that the Regiment had found the accommodations on the Erie road insufficient, and were coming to Buffalo. Then ensued a scene of early activity and bustle hardly to be described. The Tigers ran to drum together their comrades and the Cornet Band; the Chief of Police was roused and made haste to collect his forces; hotels, restaurants, bakeries and eating houses were levied upon for provisions, workmen were summoned to replace some of the tables at the depot which had been removed; and, by dint of efforts almost herculean, the arrival of the Regiment at six o'clock found everything prepared to receive them honorably and entertain them hospitably.

On its debarkation from the cars the Regiment was first marched up into the city, under the escort of the Tigers, preceded by the Union Cornet Band, parading the same route through which the Badger Regiment was led last Sunday. Returning to the depot, the volunteers were marshalled around the tables, and regaled with a substantial and excellent breakfast, including hot coffee, which had been, as we have stated, prepared and collected from a dozen different kitchens, the soldiers, police, and every one, becoming waiters and attendants. The officers and their ladies were meanwhile breakfasted at the American Hotel.

The extraordinary energy with which sudden preparation was made for the reception and entertainment of this unexpected army, deserves for all who were engaged in the effort more praise than can be expressed. The chief credit is undoubtedly due to the gentlemen of the railroad, Messrs. Brown, Barr, Collamer, Gates, and others, with the Omnibus Company and a few outside parties beside, who assume the expense, we understand, of the refreshments provided. Hardly less commendation must be bestowed upon the Tigers, but for whom the visitors would have had no military courtesies extended to them.

The departure of the regiment on the Buffalo, New York and Erie Railroad, took place about 10 o'clock. By this time a large crowd had assembled, and adieus were exchanged in the form of tremendous cheers from both sides.

The Fourth Wisconsin Regiment of Volunteers is composed of much the same robust and noble class of men which we described the other day as constituting the Third Regiment of the same brave State. Its numerical strength is greater, aggregating 1100 men, and its equipments are in some respects superior. It is thoroughly provided with tents, horses, and every necessary appurtenance. In its parade through the streets yesterday morning, the staff officers were mounted, and most of them splendidly. One of them is said to have paid $1000 for the animal which he takes into service.—Buffalo Express, 18th.

GOOD PLUCK.—A young man from Lisbon, when about enlisting in the Waukesha Union Guard, was asked, "if he could sleep on the point of a bayonet," when he promptly replied, by saying, "he could try it, as he had often slept on a pint of whisky, and the kind they used in Lisbon would kill further than any shooting iron he ever saw."

It is needless to add that he was immediately mustered in, without any further inquiries.

HOW SOL. WISE WAS CAPTURED.—A Martinsburg correspondent of the New York Tribune states, that during the battle of the Falling Waters, a soldier (Sol. Wise, of Mazo Manie,) of Capt. Fairchild's company, First Wisconsin Regiment, was deployed as skirmisher on one of the wings; when the order was given to call the skirmishers in, he evidently did not hear it, and was in consequence left alone in the woods. He undertook to rejoin his comrades, but missed the way, and soon came upon a rebel regiment. Of them he inquired—"Can you tell me where the 1st Wisconsin is?" "No, but you can board with us for a short time," and thus the young Badger found himself a prisoner.

CAPT. ELY SAFE.—Capt. Ely was in the battled at Bull's Run, but was uninjured, as will be seen by the following, which was received just as we go to press:

ALEXANDRIA, July 22.

MRS. GEO. B. ELY:—I was in the battle yesterday, but was not injured.

GEO. B. ELY.

Correspondence of the Daily Gazette.

CAMP RANDALL, July 19.

MR. EDITOR:—Thinking you would like to hear from Camp Randall occasionally, I improve the present opportunity of writing you upon such topics as are common in camp life. Indeed, the duties of a soldier being the same each and every day, he naturally becomes weary, and longs for a change. Nevertheless, there are many occurrences both of an interesting and amusing character, which tend to animate and gladden the tented life in a camp. Probably among the different duties required at this camp, that of standing as sentinel in and around the encampment is the most interesting. The two regiments mount one hundred and forty men each day. At night the outer posts are doubly guarded to prevent the boys from making their nightly excursions; and when it becomes too dark for the sentinel to distinguish objects at any distance, they commence challenging, and no one is allowed to pass the line without giving the countersign.

An amusing story is told of one of the sentinels, as follows: During the night of the 14th, while the officer of the day with his body guard were making the "grand round," the countersign for the night being Chippewa, he had occasion to pass an honest Dutchman, who was zealously guarding his post, and was challenged thus: "What for you come deir?" and was answered: "Grand round;" upon which he replied, "Den, by d—n, say Jibbewa—quick, or I stick you mit my bayonet!"

During the time the two regiments have been in camp, there has not been one fight or any incivility on the grounds; and I doubt whether there ever was a more peaceable set of men collected together. Col. Cobb is all that the men under him can wish for. Although pressed with business, he has a kind word for all who salute him kindly. During the time he has commanded, he has not made a blunder, but gives his orders promptly, and in a loud, clear voice. He evinces an unusual military talent, which so eminently fits one for a military commander. Lieut. Col. Emery is a good officer, and will distinguish himself when the time comes. Our gallant Major, Larabee, is the boast of the whole regiment and wherever you see him bustle, then something is to be accomplished of importance. He is a capital major, and to use the language of the "boys," "has got the grit."

There has been some dissatisfaction manifested among the soldiers with regard to their rations not being always without taint, but since the memorable 4th of July, which the Madison papers have so much to say about, our victuals are only palatable, to say the most of them—while before that time they were an imposition upon the men who had volunteered in the service of their country.

The intention of Col. Cobb is to change the drill of the regiment from heavy to light infantry; and accordingly, the regiment has contracted for one thousand leggins—the same as those used by the Zouaves.

The supper at this camp last night was a perfect success, and does honor to the fair ladies of Dane county. We thank the ladies for so soon atoning for the ill treatment which was given us on the 4th at Madison.

The evening parade of the two regiments was witnessed by a large concourse of visitors. After the regiment had manœuvered for a short time under the eye of Gen. Stevens, they were drawn up in open squares, and presented with two rich, blue colors, by Lieut. Gov. Noble. On giving them to the color guard of each regiment, the commanding officers addressed the regiments in a feeling manner. At the conclusion of the ceremonies, Major Larabee called upon the boys of the 5th to kneel with him and swear to protect the flag in every trying contest, and to shield it from every danger,—which they complied with in good taste.

A BEAUTIFUL EXTRACT.—The following extract is the closing portion of the speech of the Hon. Joseph Holt, of Kentucky, recently delivered at Louisville. Truly, such a man is worthy the home of Henry Clay:

If this government is to be destroyed, ask yourselves; are you willing it shall be recorded in history that Kentucky stood by in the greatness of her strength and lifted not a hand to stay the catastrophe? If it is to be saved—as I verily believe it is—are you willing it shall be written that in the immeasurable glory which must attend the achievement Kentucky had no part?

I will only add, if Kentucky wishes the waters of her beautiful Ohio to be dyed in blood; if she wishes her harvest fields, now waving in their abundance, to be trampled under the feet of hostile soldiery as a flower garden is trampled beneath the threshings of the tempest; if she wishes the homes where her loved ones are now gathered in peace, invaded by the proscriptive fury of a military despotism, sparing neither life nor property; if she wishes the streets of her towns and cities grown with grass and the steamboats of her rivers to lie rotting at her wharves, then let her join the southern confederacy. But if she would have the bright waters of that river flow on in their gladness; if she would have her harvests peacefully gathered in her garners; if she would have the lullabies of her cradles and the songs of her homes uninvaded by the cries and terrors of battle; if she would have the streets of her towns and cities again filled with the hum and throngs of busy trade, and her rivers and their shores once more vocal with the steamer's whistle—that anthem of a free and prosperous commerce—then let her stand fast by the stars and stripes, and do her duty and her whole duty as a member of the Union. Let her brave people say to the President of the United States, "You are our chief magistrate; the government you have in charge and are striving to save from dishonor and dismemberment is our government; your cause is indeed our cause; your battles are our battles; make room for us, therefore, in the ranks of your armies, that your triumph may be our triumph also."

Even as with the Father of us all I would plead for salvation, so my countrymen, upon my very knees, would I plead with you for the life, aye for the life, of our great and beneficent institutions. But if the traitor's knife now at the throat of the republic is to do its work, and this government is fated to add yet another to that long line of sepulchres which whiten the highway of the past, then my heartfelt prayer to God is that it may be written in history, that the blood of its life was not found upon the skirts of Kentucky.

FROM MISSOURI.—We last evening conversed with a gentleman of our acquaintance who had just arrived direct from southern Kansas, near the Missouri border where he resides. He came by the way of Leavenworth to St. Joseph, and thence over the Hannibal and St. Joseph and Quincy and Palmyra railroads to Quincy, in this state. He says the cars on these roads are now running regularly, and that there is only one break along the whole line from St. Joseph, which is at Salt Lake Creek, where the bridge has been destroyed by the rebels—and the whole line is now thoroughly guarded by Union soldiers, numbering in all about six thousand men. He says there are still many secession desperadoes prowling about, mostly on horseback, in northern Missouri, but our soldiers are more than enough for them.

Our friend was within a few miles of the scene of the battle in south-western Missouri between Col. Siegel's federal force and Jackson's rebels, near Carthage, when it took place, and had subsequently visited the battle-field. He says Col. Siegel's force did not exceed 1,100 men, while Jackson had an army of 8,000—and that a more skillfully managed affair than that of Siegel's in this engagement is unknown in the annals of war. The secessionists in the vicinity of the battle field freely acknowledge that not less than 400 of Jackson's desperadoes were slain in that conflict.

Our friend, who has been much among the Missourians of the western border, says that portions of the men who favor secession, and have taken the field for it, are the most cowardly and ruffianly set of rascals imaginable. They won't come up to a fair fight with the federal forces. The only danger to be apprehended from them is the sneaking and cowardly system of guerilla warfare. They fire from the bushes, and then run.

Our informant, from what he heard from reliable sources before leaving that region, has no doubt that Gen. Lyon has before this time effected a junction with Col. Siegel's force, and that Gen. Lyon probably now is in command of a consolidated army of not less than 10,000 men.

Capt. Montgomery, of Kansas notoriety, is organizing a regiment of cavalry and infantry and one company of artillery, consisting of regular dare-devils, in southern Kansas, preparatory to going into Missouri to pay his respects to the prowling traitors along the border.

It is our informant's opinion that both McCullock and Claib. Jackson, have ere now been driven into Arkansas.—Chicago Journal.

A MAN BLOWN TO PIECES BY DETONATING POWDER.—The following in regard to the death of an eminent chemist of Richmond, Va., we take from the Dispatch:

Mr. Joseph Laidley, the well-known chemist, came to an untimely, sudden and horrible death about twenty minutes to one o'clock yesterday, by the explosion of a quantity of detonating powder, which he and an assistant named Robert Clayton, of Manchester, were preparing for the use of the confederate army, in a building erected for their use on an eminence in the rear of the state armory. At the hour above named, an explosion was heard resembling the discharge of a six-pounder. On repairing to the place, a scene of horror met the gaze.

The wooden out-building and the interior one in which the powder was manufactured were found blown down, and many of the timbers wrenched, twisted and broken, in a manner to show the almost inconceivable power of the powder.

Mr. Laidley was found lying on his back, one of the most horrible objects of mutilated humanity of which it is possible to conceive. Within a few yards of the body was found a portion of the poor man's brains, looking as if they had been torn by a superhuman agency from the skull, and splashed upon the floor. The entire head, except the lower jaw, had been blown off, and nothing remained to mark the features of a man, except a pair of whiskers and a portion of the neck. The right arm was torn off below the elbow, and from the bloody stump hung the fragments of nerves, veins and sinews which were left behind. The hand was afterwards found about two hundred yards from the place of the explosion; in the yard of the state armory, a portion of the face was likewise found (it is said) three hundred yards distant, near the banks of the river. The search for the remainder proved unavailing.

His assistant, Mr. Clayton, was found in a reclining posture against a post, doubled up as if he had suffered a fearful contortion. He was perfectly insensible, and so remained up to a late hour last night, but it was not ascertained to what extent he was internally injured.

A hypocrite may spin so fair a thread a to deceive his own eyes. He may admire the cobweb, and not know himself to be the spider.

A SCRAP OF HISTORY.—Regularly, at every term of court which is held in this village, there is a woman in attendance whose singular behavior in the court room and in the street, not unfrequently subjects her to the unfeeling jest of the rude and thoughtless observer. There is a history connected with that woman, a knowledge of which may hereafter save her from such annoyances. Some five or six years ago, while residing in a neighboring town, a few young men, out of pure mischief, but with no malicious motives other than to have a little merriment at her expense, opened a correspondence with her through the post office, and affixed to the letters the name of a highly respectable and wealthy citizen. Progressing rapidly through all the stages of an epistolary courtship, a formal declaration of love was finally made, and her hand solicited in marriage. Unconscious of foul play, the poor woman had regularly answered the letters which had been sent her, and responded promptly and favorably to the offer of marriage.

The object of the conspirators was attained, the whole affair soon became a matter of neighborhood gossip, and the result was that the woman became insane. Religiously believing that she was married to the man with whom she had been corresponding, she has, for the last five years, been urging her claims to her fancied husband's property, before every court that has been held here, and seems always hopeful of ultimate success. She was praticularly attentive to the Hon. N. Cobb, late county judge, and invariably commenced her appeals to him by addressing him as "Supreme Cobb!" She is also a frequent visitor at the county clerk's office, where she thinks the records are kept which are to restore to her at some future time her marital rights. She can now be seen on our streets almost every day, walking about with a slow and measured tread, and tho'tful air, hopelessly, irremediably mad upon one subject—that of her supposed marriage—the victim of a cruel and heartless plot.—Cattaraugus Freeman.

TRIAL OF SHARPSHOOTERS.—We crossed the lake yesterday afternoon to witness the trial of sharpshooters, which took place near the edge of the marsh between the railroad and the Water Cure. Some 15 or 20 men entered their names for the war, which was the condition of putting them on trial. Gen. Utley was on the ground superintending the matter, with two heavy telescopic-sighted rifles, such as are designed to be used in the sharpshooting service. The test for the day was to put three successive shots within a nine inch ring, at 200 yards distance. Every man, we understand, who entered the list, fulfilled the conditions, with the guns to be used in the service, and some of them put three shots within an inch and a half of the center.

With ordinary rifles this would be great shooting, but with such guns as are prepared for this service, a man would be a poor shot indeed, who could not make a pretty fair show with one of them. They are made of cast steel and weigh about 18 pounds, with a telescopic sight by which the ball-hole can be distinguished from one that has been plugged, at the distance of 200 yards. The rest is also arranged to steady both ends of the rifle.

This mode of testing marksmanship one would suppose to be very imperfect for war purposes; but we understand that this kind of service is not designed for skirmishers or open field service. The sharpshooters occupy trenches and shoot at rest, and their principal business is to pick off artillery men at the batteries and aid in silencing them. One such company would easily silence a battery or delay its operations till cavalry could storm and capture it.

A bystander, not understanding the nature of this kind of service, on witnessing the arrangements, remarked that he supposed they calculated to tie the secessionists up to a tree, and carry along a work bench to rest across. If the sharpshooters should have occasion to make a sharp run, their rifles would be found too large a bore.—Madison Argus.

ACCIDENT TO ONE OF THE WISCONSIN REGIMENT OFFICERS.—A most unfortunate accident occurred yesterday, to one of the officers of the 4th Wisconsin regiment, Lieut. Tubbs, company E, on the train which brought the regiment to this city. Shortly before arriving here, Lieut. Tubbs attempted to pass from the sleeping car to one of the baggage cars, over the roofs of the train, when he was struck in the breast by a bridge, which in the dim light of the early morning he failed to discern in time to avoid. Fortunately he was not knocked off the roof, and was able to climb back to the car from which he started; but when the train arrived he was suffering severely from the injury he received. It is undoubtedly serious, and may prove fatal. He was conveyed to the American Hotel, and now remains there.—Buffalo Express, 18th.

MICHIGAN WOOL.—Since our last quotations wool has obstinately refused to move any more freely, and we have no especial change to note. Buyers offer from 22 to 28 cents, which figures do not satisfy holders, and those who do sell do not do so with good grace. The purchase to date will not exceed 100,000 pounds, and had prices been satisfactory they would have reached 500,000 pounds, and the market closed out.—Ann Arbor Argus.

To the Land Owners of Janesville.

Being about to leave for my post at Galway, Ireland, if those citizens having cheap lands for sale in this state, will furnish me with particulars, of the lowest price, terms of payment, quantity, quality, location, &c., I will most probably be enabled to find Irish purchasers, to whom my extensive knowledge of this country and my having written so copiously on it, enables me to give valuable information, and thus promote the best interests of all parties concerned. As for salubrity of climate and adaptation for agriculture, I think Wisconsin superior to any other western state, and my numerous friends here may rest assured that their beautiful "Bower City of the West," with its many educational and business facilities shall not be overlooked or forgotten. WM. B. WEST, American Consul.

COMMERCIAL.

Janesville Wholesale Market.

Reported for the Janesville Gazette, BY BUMP & GRAY. GRAIN AND PRODUCE DEALERS.

JANESVILLE, JULY 22, 1861.

Owing to a better supply, the wheat market was not quite as firm to-day as on Saturday, and we note a decline of 1@2c per bushel. Sales of about 3000 bushels at 68@72c for milling grades, and 55@65c for dry shipping, closing with a fair demand at those rates. Receipts of coarse grains light and market firm at fully quotations:

We make up prices as follows:

WHEAT—good to choice milling spring 68a72, currency; fair to good dry shipping 55a65; rejected 30a 45. The above figures are for currency, a deduction of 5 and 8c per bushel is made payable in gold.

CORN—16a18 per 60 lbs. shelled, and 14a16c per 72 lbs., ear.

OATS—good local and shipping demand at 14a15.

RYE—quiet at 20a25c per 60 lbs.

BARLEY—dull sale at 15a25c per 50 lbs., common to good quality.

TIMOTHY SEED—dull at 1,40a1,75 per 46 lbs.

POTATOES—plenty and very dull at 10a15c. pur

BUTTER—plenty at 10a12½c fair to choice roll.

EGGS—plenty and dull at 6c per dozen.

WOOL—ranges at 15a27c for common to choice fair clean clips.

HIDES—Green, 2½a3; Dry, 5a7.

FLOUR—spring at retail 2,25, per 100 lbs.

POULTRY—dressed turkeys, 6½a7; chickens, 5a6

SHEEP PELTS—range from 30c@90 each.

Important to Farmers!

WOODRUFF'S Patent Portable BAROMETER.

Cheapness, Accuracy, Simplicity, Durability, Portability and Beauty of Finish Combined.

INVENTED BY

L. WOODRUFF,

for many years Practical Meteorologist of the

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTE.

It Tells you when to expect Rain!

It Tells you when to expect Fair Weather!

It Tells you when to expect Wind!

It tells you your height above the level of the sea, or as compared with your neighbors!

Its use will add five per cent to the value of your crops by enabling you to secure them uninjured by storms!

In England and on the Continent, where art and science, as applied in aid of labor, are in some branches at least far ahead of our own country, the Barometer is to be found in the hands of almost every husbandman. Its convenience and utility are just as well recognized as that of the clock.

Experience shows that wherever the Barometer has has been introduced in this country, it is equally satisfactory. In fact it is a necessity in our proverbially variable climate, for in Wisconsin alone millions of bushels of grain have been lost through the lack of some reliable means of foretelling the weather. Depending as it does upon the well known natural law that no atmospheric change can occur without destroying its equilibrium, thus producing a change in its density and weight, which, by its action upon the sensitive surface of the mercury, is infallibly indicated by the rise or fall of the column, it will at once be seen that when properly constructed, the slightest change in the weather will be preceded by a change in the Barometer.

While to the farmer it is indispensable, oftentimes saving many times its cost in a single day, to the painter, builder, master carpenter, brick-moulder, and all other out-door workmen and mechanics, it is of scarcely less importance; and in short, there is no class in community to whom it would not sooner or later save many times its expense. Schools should not consider their apparatus complete without it.

We claim for this instrument the following merits in preference to all other instruments of the kind:

1st. Its cheapness. Until recently the Barometer has been so difficult of construction and so costly as to place it beyond the reach of all but the wealthy; but this instrument is sold so low as to be within the means of all, being by far the cheapest reliable Barometer extant.

2d. Its portability. A great difficulty in obtaining these instruments heretofore has been that they could not be transported, its extreme delicacy of construction rendering it necessary to be made and adjusted in the place where used; but by a simple arrangement this instrument can be rendered in a moment perfectly portable, so that it can be subject to the roughest usage without injury.

3d. Its durability. No wood or leather is used about the cistern, which is wholly of cast iron, forming the most durable instrument of the kind possible.

4th. It is a Mercurial Cistern Barometer, which is the only form endorsed by the highest scientific authority. The ordinary cheap Barometers and all Aneroid or dial-faced Barometers have been condemned as unreliable by the U. S. Coast Survey, and Smithsonian Institute, Washington.

5th. Its simplicity. While it combines with all the real improvements that have been given to the instrument for two centuries, other and valuable improvements possessed by no other, it is the simplest possible form of Barometer.

6th. It is not affected by the change of temperature as are the Union and other Barometers, (thus rendering it necessary to adjust them every time an observation is taken, and then it is only an approximate one,) but is acted upon solely by the different degrees of density of weight of the air, as affected by various atmospheric phenomena.

7th. Its thorough workmanship and beautiful finish render it at once highly ornamental, accurate and durable, while the addition of a Themometer Index, and Vernier scale upon a brass plate, render it by far the most complete instrument of the kind ever offered to the public.

Premiums have been awarded it by the New York, Michigan and U. S. Agricultural Societies, over all competitors.

Prof. J. C. Holmes, State Agricultural College, Lansing, Mich., says:—"The Barometer you made for me has proved to be an excellent instrument. It is perfectly accurate. I would recommend a trial of one to every farmer."

Says Hon. H. Greeley:—"There is no article so much needed among farmers as a good Barometer. You ought to sell ten thousand of them this present season in the state of New York alone. The fact that times are hard and money scarce, is only additional reason why farmers should purchase them as an article of economy in saving their crops from damage and waste."

The following scientific gentlemen, with many others, have permitted the use of their names as references:

GEO. P. WILLIAMS, LL. D., Prof. Natural Philosophy and Mathematics, Univerity of Michigan: S. H. DOUGLASS, A. M., M. D., Prof. of Chemistry, University of Michigan; E. S. CARR, M. D., Prof. of Natural Science, Wisconsin State University.

CAPITAL AND SURPLUS, - - $450,000

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company;

all well invested for the benefit of Policy holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pay a large proportion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.

By the use of these pills the periodic attacks of Nervous or Sick Headache may be prevented; and if taken at the commencement of an attack immediate relief from pain and sickness will be obtained.

They seldom fail in removing Nausea and Headache to which females are so subject.

They act gently upon the bowels,—removing Costiveness.

For Literary Men, Students, delicate females, and all persons of sedentary habits, they are valuable as a Laxative, improving the appetite, giving tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and restoring the natural elasticity and strength of the whole system.

The CEPHALIC PILLS are the result of long investigation and carefully conducted experiments, having been in use many years, during which time they have prevented and relieved a vast amount of pain and suffering from headache, whether originating in the nervous system or from a deranged state of the stomach.

They are entirely vegetable in their composition, and may be taken at all times with perfect safety without making any change of diet, and the absence of any disagreeable taste renders it easy to administer them to children.

"INVENTORS are public benefactors. To be liberal in their protection, is only to be just towards the rights of property, and tends to increase the public wealth and hastens the progress of practical improvements and of science. * * * The settled doctrine of the courts, now, under the light of large experience, is, to incline to constructions most favorable to patents."—Extract from opinion of U. S. Court in a late Patent Case.

Three-fifths of the earth's surface is covered with water. Vast sums of money and the best mechanical and engineering skill has, for ages, been employed to perfect machinery to bring this universal and indispensable element into convenient use.

May's Patents.

Double and Single Acting Pumps.

☞For any depth of mining shafts and wells, open or drilled, to 500 feet.

☞No suction pipes, no packing, no bolts, no pumping rods.

☞Are composed of two metalic cylinders and two brass valves, and wrought-iron conducting pipe.

☞Are operated by a wrought-iron lever, and by means of a compensating balance device, they work very easy by hand, wind mill or other power, at whatever depth, and work without noise.

☞They cannot freeze.

Save Repairs, Vexation and Expense!!!

☞Those longest in use (about 2 years) need no repairs and exhibit no perceptible wear, and possess valuable qualities unknown in any other pumps.

From the favorable opinions of Agriculturalists and others using these Engines and Pumps, together and separate, the following are selected:

Pumps, Without Engine.

In a half hour at ordinary pumping speed, I supply my stock of from forty to fifty head of cattle and horses, with one of May's Patent Pumps. Well 70 feet deep, last 30 feet drilled. I can find no fault with this pump, and use it in place of another kind that was very often out of repair. Being composed of few and strong pieces, and built on scientific principles, I think they must be very durable. R. W. SCHENCK.

Bradford, Rock county, Wis., January 29th, 1861.

I supply with water 690 sheep, some 60 head of cattle and 10 head of horses, with May's Patent Pump. Its great strength, apparent durability and above all the great amount of water it raises in a short time, and its easy working, gives it with me a decided preference over any other pump in the market.

C. M. CLARK.

Whitewater, Walworth Co., Wis., Jan. 31st, 1861.

Since the 1st of October last we have been using one of May's Patent Pumps, and it gives us entire satisfaction. Our well is 126 feet deep and the pump is worked by horse power or by hand. In addition to pumping water for stock and farm purposes, we use large quantities for our Brewery. REEVES & WADDLE.

Middleton, Dane county, Wis., Jan. 22d, 1861.

I am using one of May's Patent Pumps in place of a deep well pump of another kind, that was often out of order and worked hard. Well 122 feet deep, 72 feet drilled in solid rock, and pump placed 101 feet from surface. Its great strength and simplicity pleases me, and am surprised and gratified with the large amount of water raised with little labor, 6 to 8 full strokes of the lever filling a bucket. I deem it one of the most valuable improvements of the age for raising water.

JOHN TRACY.

Center, Rock county, Wis., Feb. 27th, 1861.

Pumps, With Engines.

I am using one of May's Patent Pumps and Self-Regulating Wind Engine (or Mill) on one of my farms near Janesville. Well 83 feet deep. Pump and mill used together, or may be separated in a moment. One to two hours daily is sufficient to pump water for my stock. Also, the pump works very easy by hand and is the first one, after trying different kinds, that gives me entire satisfaction. Having no bolts, packing, suction pipe, or pumping rods, and being made heavy and strong, think they must be very durable. A. HOSKINS.

Janesville, Jan. 11th, 1861.

I am using a wind engine, and pump of May's patent in a well 65 feet deep. I deem them very valuable improvements, and agree with Mr. Hoskins in the above expressed opinion. I had been using a Seneca Falls pump that did not answer my purpose.

WM. SCHENCK.

Bradford, Rock Co., Wis., Jan. 24th, 1861.

Engines.

Rock Terrace, Wis., Feb. 6th, 1861.

Since November 1858, I have been using one of May's Patent Wind Engines, pumping water from a well 186 feet deep. The Engine is a powerful one, often pumping fifty barrels of water per day. It stands 110 feet from the well and the power is communicated from the Engine to the well, underground.

I deem these Engines of great value, saving a vast amount of hard manual labor, and as their merits are understood, think they must come into general use.

J. V. ROBBINS.

These pumps and engines have taken first premiums when exhibited in competition at state and county fairs.

Write for price lists &c., and if estimates are wanted give depth of well—open or drilled, and amount of water required. Address as above.

☞Also for sale, the Patents in the unsold territory for Badger's Portable Grist Mill, Gilmore & May's Rock Drill, Stone Dressing Machine and Quartz Rock Crusher, and Nash & Cutts' Grain Separator. Alliate Patents, are meritorious and sell freely. Address,

J. M. MAY, Agent, &c., as above.
